Next Moves On Tax Cuts Up to House

It May Okay Dropping Freight Tax but Keep Passenger Fare Levy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances appear to favor congressional agreement on elimination of the federal tax on freight despite administration opposition.

The Senate late Friday voted to erase the 3 per cent levy on freight and the 10 per cent tax on passenger fares in passing a bill to continue for another year present rates on all major excises and the 52 per cent tax on corporation profits. In the absence of extension legislation, these rates would drop automatically on July 1.

Goes to House Conference

The action sent the bill to conference with the House, which earlier voted to continue all taxes at present rates.

But in advance of conferences to compromise Senate-House differences, there were signs pointing to House retreat in favor of canceling the tax on passenger fares.

There appeared to be little prospect, however, for agreement on cancelling the tax on passenger tickets.

Transportation excises now bring in 700 million dollars a year.

President Eisenhower wants these and other taxes continued on grounds the government needs the revenue.

The Treasury estimates the government will avoid a revenue loss of $2.6 billion dollars a year if all taxes, including those on transportation, are continued.

House Leaders Noncommittal

House Democratic tax leaders were noncommittal about prospective House action in conference. However, strong pressures have been brought to bear on leaders in favor of a cut in both transportation and automobile excise taxes. But informed members said they believed the House group would yield in the case of the Senate-approved freight tax cancellation in the final showdown.

Two top Republican members of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee said in separate interviews they favor repeal of the transportation tax. Both will be House conferees.

Rep. Daniel A. Reed of New York, senior committee Republican, said he is for inclusion of the freight excise repeal in small business legislation now being worked out by the committee.

Rep. Richard M. Simpson (R-Pa) joined Reed in favoring postponement of transportation tax repeal until it can be included in the small business bill.

No Need To Panic, Nixon Says

Worried GOP Hears Call To Close Ranks

Meade Alcorn, (right), chairman of the Republican National Committee, puts his arm around Sherman Adams at a reception for the Cabinet and White House staff given by the Republican Campaign School in Washington. Rips Jitters Over Adams Controversy

Vice President Gives Pep Talk at Parley Of State Chairmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon, seeking to calm Republican jitters over the Sherman Adams controversy, says party leaders should close ranks and not panic.

In a pep talk Friday night to Republican state chairmen, Nixon said:

"The trouble with Republicans is that when they get into trouble they start acting like a bunch of cannibals."

Nixon's words were reported by two state chairmen who said the vice president made no direct reference to Adams, President Eisenhower's top aide.

A growing number of Republican congressmen have called for Adams to step out or be fired in the light of his acknowledged acceptance of favors from Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine.

Feel Prospects Hurt

Many Republicans feel GOP election prospects this fall will be harmed if Adams remains as top White House aide even though President Eisenhower says he needs Adams.

But one state chairman, Alphonzo E. Bell Jr. of California, said Nixon, without mentioning Adams' name, expressed doubt the controversy "will have much effect on the November elections."

Bell said that "as far as California is concerned, the vice president thinks the improvement in the ecenomy will far outweigh any other issue." He added he agrees with Eisenhower that Adams should stay on the job.

Thomas G. Judd, Utah state chairman, quoted Nixon as saying Republicans "should pull together regardless of the circumstances."

Nixon was host to the chairmen at the windup of a campaign school here. During that meeting, the chairmen split on the Adams issue when their views were sought by reporters.

Meanwhile, Rep. Richard M. Simpson, chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee, said the Adams controversy "can only be harmful" to the GOP at the ballot box this year.

New Calls for Action

New calls for Adams to quit came Friday from Republican congressional ranks. One such call was voiced by Sen. Arthur V. Watkins of Utah, who won Eisenhower's praise in 1954 for the job Watkins did as chairman of a committee that recommended censure of the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) announced that Goldfine has agreed to appear July 1, with records, before Harris' House subcommittee that touched off the Adams incident. The subcommittee has been investigating alleged pressures on federal regulatory agencies.

Adams has told the subcommittee he accepted favors from Goldfine as an old friend and also contacted two federal agencies about cases involving Goldfine. Adams acknowledged imprudence but said he never sought to swing agency decisions in favor of Goldfine.

Dag Leaves Beirut After Parley Fails

U.N. Secretary Will Check Over Trouble Spots in Middle East

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold left today to look into a couple of other Middle East hot spots after apparently failing to make any headway toward ending the six-week-old Lebanese rebellion.

As he flew to Israel after two days of talks, a bomb exploded only a few yards from the presidential palace, another of the hundreds of bombs hurled by terrorists since the rebellion began.

En Route to Cairo

The U. N. secretary general was scheduled to visit Jerusalem and the Jordanian capital of Amman on the way to Cairo, capital of the United Arab Republic, which Beirut officials charge with supporting the rebels trying to overthrow Lebanon's pro-Western government.

Jordanian officials said Hammarskjold would meet King Hussein and Premier Samir El Rifai in Amman. U. N. headquarters in New York announced the secretary general would discuss Mt. Scopus, an Israeli enclave in Jordanian territory near Jerusalem where a Canadian U. N. truce official was killed in a clash May 26.

Emergency Force

The U. N. announcement said one topic for discussion in Cairo would be the U. N. Emergency Force which has been separating Egyptian and Israeli troops since their 1956 war.

But another subject of Cairo talks was expected to be Lebanese violence. President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon has accused the U. A. R. of sending in from its neighboring Syrian province arms and troops to aid the rebels.

Hammarskjold is scheduled to return to Beirut Monday or Tuesday and fly back to New York Wednesday.

Judge Suspends Move

Little Rock Given Integration Delay

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — U.S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley of Hope today granted the Little Rock School Board permission to suspend racial integration at Central High School for 2½ years.

The decision, received by mail in the U.S. District Court clerk's office here, permits the school to remove the seven Negro students still enrolled at Central.

In New York, the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People said it would file notice of appeal promptly.

Proposal Hit by NAACP

Lemley heard the board's petition for delay in a three-day hearing here June 3-5. The proposed suspension was opposed by attorneys for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Nine Negroes were enrolled under the protection of federal troops at Central High last September. One was expelled and another graduated this spring.

Lemley said in his order that Central integration might be suspended until mid-semester of the 1960-1961 school year without the school board "being considered, either collectively or individually, in contempt of this court."

Gov. Orval Faubus cordoned the 2,000-pupil high school with National Guardsmen last fall and ordered the state troops to turn away nine Negroes despite a federal court order decreeing that the Little Rock gradual plan for desegregation begin. He withdrew the troops in face of a U.S. District Court injunction that he and other state officials cease interference with desegregation.

Guard Federalized

President Eisenhower then ordered federal soldiers here and federalized the Arkansas National Guard to quell rioting that broke out on the Central High campus and to enforce the court order for desegregation.

In the hearing before Lemley this month, school board witnesses asked the suspension on grounds that the situation would be the same during the 1958-59 school year as it was the past year. The first year of the integration at Central was marked by harrassment of the Negroes in the school halls and threats to bomb the building.

Wayne Upton, president of the school board, quoted Faubus as saying he might again call out the guard as he did last year and, Upton added, Faubus might not be the governor in 1961.

School Supt. Virgil Blossom told Lemley a suspension was needed to permit an improvement of community feeling toward the integration.

The NAACP attorneys sought to show that school authorities had not properly enforced discipline at the school and maintained that a breakdown in integra would violate the rights of tne Negro students.

Temperature To Climb To 74 Degrees Sunday

Clouds prevailed over Marion County today, the first official day of summer, and the weatherman, as if to celebrate, made no mention of rain in his forecast for tonight and Sunday. However, he called for "partly cloudy and cool" circumstances through Sunday.

A total of .02 of an inch of precipitation fell in most of this area Friday afternoon, as the mercury rose to a high of 72. It dropped to an overnight low of 56, then climbed back to 64 at noon today.

The high today was expected to be 74, with a low tonight of perhaps 55 and a high Sunday of 74.

Intersection Collision

Mother, Daughter Dead After Crash in Crawford

BUCYRUS — A Bucyrus area mother and her daughter were fatally injured late Friday afternoon when the auto in which they were riding collided with another at the intersection of two Crawford County roads.

Investigating state patrolmen of the Bucyrus post identified the victims as Mrs. Mabel Shaffstall, 43, and her daughter, Peggy, 11.

THE GIRL sustained a fractured skull and was pronounced dead on arrival at Bucyrus Community Hospital, patrolmen said. Mrs. Shaffstall died one hour after she was admitted to the hospital. She suffered a crushed chest, officers said.

They were Crawford County's fifth and sixth traffic fatalities of the year.

The mishap occurred at 4:25 p.m. at the intersection of County Roads 32 and 1. The auto driven by Mrs. Shaffstall on County Rd. 32, went through the intersection with the other county road and crossed the path of the second auto, traveling on County Road 1 when the two vehicles collided, patrolmen said.

—:—

THE IMPACT sent both cars off the road and through a fence owned by Frank Lust of near Nevada. They came to rest in a field. Patrolmen said both vehicles were demolished.

Driver of the second car involved was identified as John Finney, 20, of Oceola.

Finney was admitted to Bucyrus Community Hospital for treatment of left arm lacerations and body bruises and abrasions.

The bodies of Mrs. Shaffstall and her daughter were taken to Munz Funeral Home.

Farmers Vote For Continued Wheat Control

Curbs Retained for 6th Straight Year in 38-State Referendum

WASHINGTON (AP)—Farmers voted Friday for the sixth straight year to keep a somewhat ineffective federal clamp on wheat production.

A referendum held in 38 commercial producing states resulted in 165,868 votes for controls on the 1959 wheat crop and 32,342 votes against curbs. This was a majority of 83.7 per cent, far more than the necessary two-thirds.

The outcome was no surprise to farm officials and leaders even though the program has been under attack on the ground it has failed to prevent the accumulation of what may turn out this year to be the largest wheat surplus on record.

The alternative - freedom to produce at much lower prices - was generally looked upon as even less inviting.

The program imposes marketing

County Votes 42-41 for the Crop Controls

Marion County farmers, going to the polls Friday to vote in the national wheat referendum, favored federal controls on the 1959 crop by the slim margin of one vote. Controls were approved nationally by the necessary two-thirds majority.

All told, 42 county wheat growers balloted in favor of the measure and 41 voted against it. However, three votes were challenged.

It was the second time since the referendums have been held that local farmers gave a simple majority in favor of controls. Last year marked the first time for a favorable vote. However, at no time has the county favored controls by a two-thirds majority.

For the state as a whole, 3,479 farmers were in favor, and 2,165 were against.

The state thus maintained its record of having never yet voted in favor of controls by the necessary two-thirds majority.

President Loses Some Support

Backers of Eisenhower In Press Split on Adams

By The Associated Press

Many of the newspapers that supported Dwight D. Eisenhower for the presidency have split on the issue of whether he should retain Sherman Adams as his chief White House aide.

The tone of many — but not all — of the Adams-should-go editorials in pro-Republican newspapers has been moderate. On the other hand, two prominent papers that supported the retention of Adams did so in vigorous, almost vehement terms.

Democratic papers generally called for Adams' ouster.

Adams admitted accepting gifts from industrialist Bernard Goldfine and making certain telephone calls inquiring into government matters concerning Goldfine.

Eisenhower, while saying he thought his assistant might have been imprudent, voiced full confidence in the flinty New Englander and said he would retain him.

Takes Middle View

An example of temperate comment by a paper favoring Adams' resignation came from the Tucson, Ariz., Daily Citizen, which supported Eisenhower:

"Even though he may be a martyred victim of circumstances, Mr. Adams can render final great service to the President by resigning."

One of the more vehement advocates of Adams' resignation was the Nashville, Tenn., Banner, which supported Eisenhower in both his 1952 and 1956 campaigns:

"If his resignation is not immediately forthcoming voluntarily it should be sought by the President — who cannot possibly condone an incident that nauseates the nation."

Daily News Comments

The New York Daily News, also a two-time Eisenhower supporter, commented in the same vein:

"We think the President should reconsider his refusal to heave

Sewer Legislation Tops Agenda for City Council

A busy session is indicated for Marion City Council at its regular meeting Monday night in City Hall.

In addition to a scheduled vote on overriding a mayoralty veto of four pieces of sewer legislation, council will consider 13 new pieces of legislation, one of them a substitute for one of the four that was vetoed.

It is an ordinance establishing a tapping fee in lieu of an assessment against properties along a proposed extension of the Forest Lawn Dr. sewer.

The original, vetoed legislation set the tapping fee at $4.25 a front foot. Mayor Wendell L. Strong objected to this, saying the fee should have been set at $6 a front foot. At the June 9 council meeting, the sewer committee ordered legislation to establish the fee at the $6 a front foot.

The other 12 new pieces of legislation to be considered are more routine. They are:

Two ordinances to provide for the issuance of notes in anticipation of the collection of special assessments for street improvements on Mandana and Seminole avenues.

An ordinance regulating the making of an opening or excavation into any public property and the establishing of fees and penalties pertaining thereto.

An ordinance authorizing the General Hospital board of governors to advertise for and sign contracts for the purchase of a new obstetrical table in the maternity department.

An ordinance authorizing the installation of a snack bar in the lobby of City Hall.

An ordinance requiring that all curbs and gutters installed in the

Look Up, Look Out, Look About You

Look Up, Look Out, Look About You

A friend was telling recently of an interesting experience with a new acquaintance she met at a convention.

They had not known each other until they were assigned a hotel room together. It was late evening. Both were tired from a long day of travel, and soon they were in bed, asleep.

Next morning, my friend was up rather early, anxious to be out of the room. She was anticipating a long walk through the hotel grounds and surrounding area.

Her roommate opened one eye and with some disgust said, "Why so early? We could sleep another hour!"

-:-

MY FRIEND explained she wanted to take advantage of that hour to enjoy the morning sunshine, the hotel gardens and the nearby college campus.

"This is a beautiful spot, and it's a beautiful day," she said. "Come and join me."

Finally, the roommate decided to do so, and the two of them went out into the coolness of the morning, drank in the beauty of the flowers and trees and shrubs, looked up to the rim of the low-hanging hills that sheltered the campus and hotel facilities.

When they returned, the roommate said, "You know, I wouldn't have missed this for anything. I'm afraid I go through life day after day forgetting the joys and pleasures that are mine for the asking. I feel like a new woman!"

HOW OFTEN this is true! We go through life with our heads down, our eyes on the ground, concentrating on daily tasks and duties and burdens. We miss the soul-recharging benefits that constantly are about us.

Especially this time of year, we need to pause some time each day to look up to the summer sky, look out across the broad expanse of nature's handiwork, look about us at the beauty of the year's most productive season.

We need not go to a glamorous resort, a mountain lodge or the seashore. The benefits of God's great outdoors are found in a quiet ride through the nearby countryside, a walk in the park, a garden plot across the street, or in the symmetrical beauty of a single tree.

The spirit of man thrives on a sense of physical well-being. Enthusiasm rebounds, confidence returns and faith expands when we refresh ourselves — body, mind and soul — on the God-given pleasures and beauty that are ours for the asking.

The Apostle Paul said, "Know ye not that the body is the temple of the Holy Spirit which is in you? Therefore, glorify God in your body and in your spirit."

First Nazarene

A pay-off party will be held for the entire Sunday School of the First Church of the Nazarene Tuesday night at 7:30 in the fellowship center.

Moonlight and Matrimony

A Sermonette

By REV. CLYDE R. WENDELL
Pastor of Calvary Evangelical United Brethren Church

"For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife; and they twain shall be one flesh." Matt. 19:5.

On a bench beside a shining lake a young man and woman are silhouetted against the brilliance of the rising full moon. They sit close together, shoulder to shoulder, heads near to each other. Holding hands, they are looking out over the shining waters and what they are saying to one another could be based on fancy or upon fact.

If we were to eavesdrop for a moment we might hear something like this: "Even though we have only known each other but a few short weeks, our romance is so real, and our emotional feeling so strong that we don't need to take time to see whether we are companionable. Ours is 'love at first sight.'"

Or, "Our love will overcome the differences of race, or religion, or educational backgrounds, or hobbies. And even though (his-her) parents are divorced and one of his sisters and two of her brothers are separated, ours will be an ideal marriage. There will never be any petty squabbling or fighting or misunderstandings in our home. We will always feel as we do now. On the sea of matrimony our ship will always ride in the sheltered coves of mutual amiability."

—:—

AS WE MOVE quietly away from this lovers' rendevous the question comes to our minds: "Are these youngsters' thoughts but "moonlight illusions of fancy," or "marriage illuminations of fact"?

Under the magic spell of the lunar light, the Hollywood conception of love is quite alluring—the soulful stare, a clinch, an extended kiss.

Modern fiction, the movies and television have built up false ideas of happy marriage, dependable sociologists affirm, and one of these ideas is that marriage must be a perpetual physical romance in order to be happy.

Let us be realistic, however. Marriage does have a physical side. The physical need for "someone else" is the springboard of love. The Bible doesn't mince words regarding the mating instinct. This may be a good starting point, but a poor conclusion. It is here that the Hollywood emphasis is in error since it intimates this is the thing of primary worth.

There is no magic in the words of the minister as he reads the marriage ceremony to change the personality structure of your mate. After the wedding he will still blame others for his failures and mistakes if he did so before, and she will still manifest after the ceremony those same displays of unreasonable temper and tantalizing episodes of immaturity and infantilism that she did before she promised to "love, honor and cherish 'till death do us part."

NO, MARRIAGE isn't all "moonlight and roses." Romance and red lips are intoxicating, but you can't go through life in a state of intoxication. Red lips pale, roses wilt, and the moon is changeable. But, marriage, founded on facts and not illusions, can be satisfying to the soul and body and enduring to the grave.

One of the facts of marriage is that the choice of your mate is often an accident of geography. About one-half of the married people find a suitable mate within 20 blocks of where they live. In rural areas the distance increases slightly. Anyone of several persons might, under proper circumstances, have been chosen as a life partner and with equal success.

Marriages, then, are not made in heaven, but marriage is. For marriage is the way in which the most beautiful things men know are produced. It is the way in which a terrific urge is made into a blessing instead of potential curse.

AGAIN, MARRIAGE is a "divine institution." Two people enter into a holy partnership according to the will of God. They stand before an altar dedicated to the worship of Almighty God and engage in a religious act together. It is more than a legal contract. It is a commitment—thus it is intrinsically religious.

Another fact of marriage is that it is supreme. That is, it takes precedence over all other human relationships. "For this cause shall a man leave his father and mother . . . and they twain shall be one flesh."

Even closer than the parent-child relationship is that of husband and wife. The statement "one flesh" is not an empty figure of speech. It is biblically and psychologically true, and some say physically. For often we hear it said of couples married a long time, "they begin to look alike."

However, the superlative fact of marriage is that of spiritual "oneness." A home is indeed a bit of heaven where husband and wife are truly wedded to God as well as to one another. Most of the troubles that affect the peace and security of marriage today could be avoided if the husband and wife both had a vital relationship to Jesus Christ as Savior and Lord and were seeking to exemplify Him in the home.

The anonymous bride and bridegroom at Cana in Galilee invited Jesus to their wedding. May I suggest that you also invite Him into your heart and into your home.

"O perfect Love, all human thought transcending
Lowly we kneel in prayer before Thy throne,
That theirs may be the love which knows no ending,
Whom Thou forevermore dost join in one."

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

How To Find a Victorious Faith

This summer, as for many past summers, visitors from all over the world, including many Americans, will flock to one of my favorite resorts. It is called Burgenstock and it has three hotels, a few cottages and and is surrounded by mountain meadows, providing a delightful mixture of the primitive and the comfortable. It sits high in the Swiss Alps near Lucerne, in an extraordinarily beautiful area.

Vincent Peale

Burgenstock was first developed as a resort by a man named Friedrich Frey. He died before my first visit there, but I have heard a great deal about him from his son, who now operates the enterprise.

Friedrich Frey must have been a most remarkable person. He was born a peasant and never had much schooling or formal education. Yet he became an important figure in the Swiss power industry and used his earnings to build one of the world's great hotels. Even today the impress of his vital personality pervades the resort he created.

I LAST WENT to Burgenstock to work on the manuscript of my most recent book, "Stay Alive All Your Life." While I was working one summer day, Fritz Frey, the present proprietor, stopped by to see me. He asked a curious question; he wanted to know if I was going to tell people what faith can do. I answered that I was certainly trying to do just that.

"You know," he said, "my father was a great man." Then he went on to say that the explanation of his father's greatness was very simple, because a fortunate thing had happened to him. "My father when he was young took sick and had to spend one year in the hospital."

It seemed strange that a son would regard this as a fortunate circumstance and I asked him why.

"Because," he answered, "during that year, my father read the Bible six times." Fritz Frey glanced at a precipice near us. "My father developed such a victorious faith from this reading," he went on, "that if he were asked to walk a path on the top of a ridge, the path being only wide enough for foot room, with precipices on the left and on the right, he could walk it absolutely without fear. He was never afraid of anything after the time he saturated himself with the Bible."

I DID NOT DOUBT a word he said. For the Bible tells us that if we have faith, nothing shall be impossible unto us. This does not mean you can get everything you want, nor does it mean that you are at liberty to be foolish, but it does mean that you may have a power within yourself by which you can meet life and meet it victoriously. This is what is meant by a victorious faith. It is much more than intellectual asset. It is a dynamic attitude toward life's circumstances.

Victorious faith is available to anyone and everyone. Of course, such faith is not cheaply had nor easily attained. It does not come to those who superficially probate into faith, but only to those who are willing to go deep and actually practice it. To do this, you must really believe—you must take faith as a way of life. One must have faith in faith. If you do this you will be given power to achieve the things that really matter in your life. And you will be able to live victoriously and happily.

Trujillo's Swank Yacht Puts In at Los Angeles

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The strangest man o' war in port has only one cannon—for shooting lines—and boasts a 12-man orchestra.

The owner, of course, is Lt. Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr., son of the strongman of the Dominican Republic. The white, four-masted yacht is the Angelita. She is 350 feet long, carries a crew of 80, and was built for the late U. S. Ambassador Joseph Davies.

She came into port Friday listed as a man o'war, thus missing $18.25-a-day dockage fees.

Trujillo said he plans to hold a party for his Hollywood friends aboard the Angelita before he leaves for home aboard the vessel.

World Leader Is Re-Elected By Adventists

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fifteen thousand Seventh-Day Adventists here for the 48th Quadrennial World Conference of the church attended worship services today.

Pastor Reuben R. Figuhr of Washington, re-elected world president of the denomination Friday, told an audience of about 10,000 delegates and visitors the Scriptures are clear that Christ will come again and that His coming will be soon.

"The clear scriptual teaching that caused the formation of the Seventh-Day Adventist Church was the imminence of our Lord's return to this earth in power and majesty. Today we cherish this same hope and we must defend it with fervor."

Adventist evangelist Fordyce W. Detamore told youth of the church they "should not fear to call sin by its right name." He said it was not always easy for youth to live lives of purity "in a day which sees sin abounding on every side."

The convention returns to the normal pattern of business Sunday after taking time out from sunset Friday to sunset today for worship.

Visit to Pittsburgh Scheduled for 30 Children at Home

Thirty boys and girls from the Marion County Children's Home will be taken on a three-day trip to Pennsylvania next week.

James Painter, superintendent of the Children's Home, reported the group, traveling in five automobiles, will leave Wednesday morning at 8:30 with Washington, Pa., which is about 30 miles from Pittsburgh, as their destination.

They will stay in Washington overnight and on Thursday will be taken sightseeing to Pittsburgh where they will visit the zoo, various buildings there and also will attend a Pittsburgh Pirates baseball game. The group will return to Washington that night and start home Friday.

Parents of Mr. Painter, Maj. and Mrs. Harry Painter, reside in Washington, Pa. Maj. Painter is head of the Salvation Army Corps there. During the two nights in that city, the boys of the Children's Home group will be housed in the Army Citadel and the girls will stay at the Painter home.

Making the trip with the children, besides Mr. Painter, will be Devere Carr, assistant at the Children's Home, Eugene White, probation counselor with the County Juvenile Court, Patrolman Harold Morris and Miss Betty Smith, Mr. Painter's secretary.

Eaton To Acquire Fuller Mfg. Firm

CLEVELAND — Eaton Manufacturing Co., a substantial independent producer of power-driven rear axles for medium and heavy-duty trucks and off-the-road equipment among other automotive products, proposes to acquire the Fuller Manufacturing Co. of Kalamazoo, Mich., whose principal product line consists of transmissions for these vehicles.

Directors of the two companies, in separate meetings here today, agreed on an exchange of each outstanding share of Fuller for one Eaton share, subject to the approval of shareholders of both companies, according to John C. Virden, chairman and president of Eaton, and J. Seton Gray, chairman and chief executive officer of Fuller, in a joint statement following the meetings.

Fuller has 458,310 shares outstanding and Eaton has 1,838,044 shares of an authorized issue of 2,500,000.

The proposed transfer of Fuller assets to Eaton, including the outstanding stock of the former's wholly-owned subsidiary, the Shuler Axle Co. of Louisville, Ky., and the proposed acquisition of these assets by Eaton are to be submitted to the shareholders of both companies for action at separate meetings July 30.

Upon consummation of the transaction, Fuller would be operated as a wholly-owned subsidiary of Eaton with no changes contemplated in its present management, personnel, products and sales policies.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .
ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Genesis	37	5-11
Monday	Exodus	2	1-10
Tuesday	Judges	7	4-8
Wednesday	Ruth	1	15-18
Thursday	Romans	12	9
Friday	Esther	2	5-11
Saturday	Psalms	119	9-16

Strange word . . . FRESH!

Once it meant young . . . unspoiled . . . without blemish.

But American slang has made it the tag of the impudent, the forward, the ruthlessly agressive youth.

What does this change in a word mean? Do we distrust the young? Do we resent boys and girls today?

On the contrary, it reflects our clearer understanding of our task as parents. For we have given youth greater freedom. But we have understood that this freedom demands careful guidance, particularly in the moral and spiritual realms. We dislike the fresh child. He is the evidence of somebody's failure to provide the essential guidance.

So modern America is turning with fervor and confidence to its churches. They provide the religious training that tempers youthful freshness with respect, reverence and faith.

Fight Forest Fire

NORTH POLE, Alaska (AP) — A smoldering forest fire flaring suddenly out of control forced partial evacuation Friday of this town of 400 some 14 miles southeast of Fairbanks.

Several homes on the outskirts were threatened. Fire fighters from nearby Air Force bases joined civilians on the fire lines.

North Pole's principal claim to fame is based on the flood of mail sent here for cancellations before the Christmas season.

Body Recovered

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — A fisherman found the body of Emil T. Koberna, 72, of Cleveland, in a private lake in northeastern Summit County Friday night. Coroner's investigator James Crano could not say how long the body had been in the lake. Sheriff's deputies said the man apparently fell into the water while fishing.

'Our Most Influential Citizens'

Members of Congress and public officials in Washington must be reviewing wryly in their private thoughts the irony of "influence" in government.

The only substantial difference between them and Sherman Adams is that Mr. Adams was put under the floodlights in a committee hearing. If they went through the same ordeal, the results might be just as hurtful to their reputations.

And they do not know how to forestall the possibility.

They would be damned for a certainty if they did not go to bat for their "friends" and their constituents and "damned" for a probability if they did. So they play the better bet. They go to bat.

If they tried to conform to a standard of conduct contrary to the prevailing practice of influence in both public and private affairs, they would be useless — and they could not stay in office anyway.

YET, THE INFLUENCE they use and the influence they yield to can be turned into a boomerang if it comes under investigative scrutiny. The difference between courtesy and corruption would be as vague and iffy as it proved to be when Mr. Adams tried to define it.

"Our most influential citizens" may be a phrase of praise in American life, but woe to the citizen who must explain how his influence was used in government.

The situation is reminiscent of what happened in the Senate in 1956 when Sen. Case of South Dakota switched his vote on the Harris-Fulbright bill to exempt natural gas producers from direct federal control because an "out-of-state party" had contributed $2,500 to his re-election campaign.

Sen. Fulbright of Arkansas, co-author of the bill, which eventually was vetoed by the White House because of Sen. Case's revelation, bitterly chided his associate on the floor of the Senate for making a public sensation of something that was a routine reality of politics.

A public official is not necessarily corrupt because he accommodates his constituents and his friends. A representative or a senator is not necessarily corrupt because he represents the views of the people who elected him. He is not necessarily corrupt if he participates in log-rolling and back-scratching. These are routine realities of politics.

IF THERE IS a taint of corruption, it is shared by all citizens who ask favors. By and large, government reflects the standards of the governed. If no private citizen ever asked a public official to perform a favor, no public official ever would be criticized by a private citizen for performing a favor.

All employes of government then could lead a monastic existence, shut away from the problems of the governed. Government employes would not even do favors for one another. Government would be impersonal and abstract — a mechanistic bureaucracy, impervious to "errors of judgment," like those confessed by Sherman Adams.

Would it be better that way?

It is something to think about the next time you ask your councilman to use his influence to have a street light installed at the corner of your street, or take pen in hand to ask your congressman to repeal the tax that is biting you, especially if you remind them that you supported them in the last election.

Power of Faith

By Howard Brodie

GALILEE, ISRAEL—After John the Baptist went to prison, Jesus went to the country around the Lake of Galilee to preach the gospel of the kingdom of God. His was a lonely mission until one day, walking along the shore, He saw two fishermen, the brothers Peter and Andrew, casting their nets into the sea. "Follow Me," He exhorted, "and I will make you fishers of men."

The power of His love was so great that straight off they followed Him, dropping their nets and receiving faith to inspire new friends and followers. Today the lovely lake still bespeaks the presence of the greatest of all fishermen.

As I recently walked its shores, fish leaped and flashed over the deep blue water. A long-legged bird stood majestically on a rock. Flotsam of feathers, fronds, pine cones and orange peels bobbed on the gentle water. And, like those first apostles, fishermen stood casting their nets into the sea.

Government by Reuther

By Raymond Moley

To most of us, the expression "government by all the people" is just a phrase useful in patriotic speeches and an easy blind for demagogues. But it has a vital, deeply embedded truth which many of us are loath to recognize. Nothing so illustrates its validity so much as the innumerable examples in history of the corroding effect upon economic life produced by government by a class or political machine dominated by an oligarchy or a small but potent minority.

Perhaps leaders of the British Labor party would deny that the government that they conducted from 1945 to 1951 was in fact a minority affair. But they cannot deny that its basic nature was a dictatorship by the trades unions and the so-called intellectuals in the party.

The facts clearly show that its tinkering with the economic system and its threats to the British economy paralyzed initiative and frustrated recovery from the war.

Michigan has had what is substantially a UAW government for some years. Time and again, candidates backed by the Reuther machine have swept the state. Practically all elective state offices are filled by people who owe their election to UAW support.

THIS POWERFUL machine, heavily financed by union funds and incredibly active on a year-around basis, has not only elected its man, Gov. Williams, over and over, but has now penetrated into counties and cities.

It has been obvious, because of the repressive character of Michigan's taxation and the many embarrassments suffered by private business, not only that industry is draining out of the state but that new business prefers to go elsewhere—to Ohio or to Indiana, where there is no union-in-politics dictation.

It has also been evident that the vast political designs of Reuther are not limited to this one state but are stretching far over the nation.

For example, the UAW made a substantial contribution to the Hells Canyon Association, whose purpose was to build a great federal dam on the Snake River to provide a source of "cheap" power and draw industry from the Midwest, including Michigan.

Some time ago, Gov. Williams was forced to give some attention to the receding tide of Michigan's industry. His response was to set up a group of what he called "economic ambassadors" to sing the virtues of Michigan in other states and seek to bring in more industry.

THE PEOPLE selected by Williams as such "ambassadors"—utilities people, bankers, leaders of state educational institutions, etc.—were unable to refuse since their ostensible service would be to help the state and also because a state government so controlled has great power to make reprisals on the recalcitrant.

But there are plenty of small businessmen, farmers, and others in Michigan who are able to defy the governor and the political machine behind him.

Lawrence Love, a small manufacturer, recently inspired a meeting of people who are unhappy about Michigan's economic and political bondage. This meeting, held in Lansing, staged some plain talking and created what is called the "Citizens' Alliance to Build Michigan." Its program is to work for a "sensible" right to work law; less extravagance in state government; revision of the state tax structure and counteraction against union domination of politics.

Thus, while so much of Michigan's big business has and apparently still continues to sit on its political hands, smaller business and farmers are taking the aggressive course which is the only kind of opposition that people like Williams and Reuther can understand and fear. May their efforts carry over into other states threatened with the same sort of minority government.

If Taxation Ever Became Rational

In an unexpected outburst of common sense that chilled the blood of Senate leadership, senators have voted to throw out a 10 per cent tax on railroad passenger fare and clinched their new-found sanity by throwing out a 3 per cent tax on rail freight.

The passenger fare vote was 59-25, the freight vote 50-35.

If taxation ever became rational, decisions like these would be made up and down the line.

These taxes are examples of the misuse of taxation to bring about changes in practice. They are holdovers from wartime levies designed to discourage the use of railroad facilities which were going to be needed for government purposes.

But when the government's special need vanished, the taxes remained, continuing to discourage the use of railroad facilities in a period when railroads needed encouragement, not discouragement.

The taxes are the same in principle as all other taxes which penalize unduly the operation of tax-producing enterprise for the benefit of tax-spending projects—literal examples of killing the geese that lay the golden eggs.

In the case of railroads, for example, it makes more sense in the upside-down thinking of spenders to authorize government-guaranteed loans for railroads in distress than to take the railroads out of distress by relieving them of taxation handicaps.

Everyone who makes recommendations for improving the tax-producing energy of private enterprise points to the folly of taxes that pile handicaps on enterprise. The rebuttal to recommendations for change is always the same—that the federal government is in such desperate need of revenue that it cannot afford to yield any. This was the rebuttal to the senators who claimed railroads should be relieved of wartime excise taxes—that the government needed the money.

A majority of senators, in an unexpected demonstration of reasonableness, asserted that the government also needed the railroads which helped to produce the money.

Prisoners of Soviets

By David Lawrence

There have been many occasions in the history of the United States when the forcible retention of American citizens anywhere in a foreign land met with a prompt resistance by the government here.

Lawrence

Nine U. S. Army men in an unarmed helicopter strayed recently into East Germany through error but the Soviet government — America's wartime ally in Europe — refuses to give up the men it imprisoned on June 8.

The United States regards the East German territory as still under the four power occupation agreement. No peace treaty has been signed covering that area and the military armistice is still in effect. The Soviets have set up a puppet government in East Germany but this does not alter the status of the four power agreement.

Thus an American military mission sits in Potsdam, which is within East German territory and is empowered to deal with all questions of a military nature arising therein. The Soviets, however, are repudiating the rights of that military mission and are insisting that the American government's dealings be with the East German regime.

The Soviets in 1945 were temporarily given administrative authority over the so-called Soviet zone, which includes East Germany. But this authority is revocable.

The four allied powers are the true custodians of the so - called Soviet zone.

ALLIES DO NOT usually deny to each other the right of access to any part of their own military zones. If they do, they cease to be allies. Actually, under the four power agreement, the Soviets still are responsible for the quick return of American servicemen who may wander into their zone and the United States has so informed the Soviet government.

The United States has every right under the broad principles of international law to use military force to protect the lives of its citizens who happen to be in foreign lands. In the present instance, moreover, the United States, as a member of the alliance that fought World War II, has every right to recover any of its military personnel.

This has been demanded of the Soviet rulers but they are attempting to wash their hands of any responsibility.

If, therefore, the Moscow government insists that it has relinquished all administrative authority over the Soviet zone in East Germany, then such authority reverts completely to the other three military powers — Great Britain, France and the United States.

It is inconceivable that the United States would take any military steps alone and it would probably consult its two allies about joint action.

Many people will say that such a contingency — the forcible recovery of the nine Americans —is remote but this does not dispose of the legal situation that has been introduced. For the three powers now have been told, in effect, by the Soviet Union that it has ended its occupation of the Soviet zone. This raises a legal problem that cannot be ignored.

The three powers, of course, are in a position now to take the Soviets at their word and to discuss among themselves what military measures should be taken to recover control of the area which was previously occupied by the Soviets but which has never been given to any puppet regime or to any other authority in East Germany to administer except the Soviets.

THE MOSCOW government has been trying to maneuver the United States into a position which would require recognition of the East German government as the ransom price for the recovery of the nine Army men, who are in prison though they have committed no crime and violated no tenet of international law.

As for West Germany, all four powers have relinquished authority over it and have recognized the federal republic.

The United States could deal with the East German authorities, as Secretary Dulles says, just as it might negotiate with any "kidnaper." But to do so raises a question that will not be settled by the mere release of the nine Americans. The real question is how Great Britain, France and the United States shall deal henceforth with the zone previously occupied by the Soviets.

The situation could be clarified by a proposal to send American troops to rescue the nine airmen. For they are being held apparently by a "bandit" government which has no rights under the original four power agreement.

The Soviets might be inclined then to re-enter the picture, as they have a right to do. This could speed the release of the nine Americans.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: All is quiet here and I hope you are the same. I am in a mood that makes it possible for me to believe the unusual is the usual and therefore the usual is nothing to get excited about.

I can take all the news in stride, including the part that is not fit to print. I have seen it all before anyway. Only the names have been changed, to protect the guilty.

The slightly reformed assassins in the Kremlin are firing revolvers into one another's ears again, which is an old Russian custom.

I notice that a Latin American dictator is in a huff because his son failed to graduate from a military academy in the United States. There is nothing out of the ordinary about that.

Some Americans are miffed because the U.S. exhibit at the Brussels fair doesn't suit them. Others think it is highly satisfactory— and where have I heard that before?

We're having a lousy June, but no lousier than some I have lived through and not so lousy as some others that taxed my patience.

Apparently the realists who know how business always has been done in Washington have thought up no new wrinkles in the last 170 years. They're still getting in touch with the top man by hook or crook.

Business is better this summer than it was in the spring, but it always has been, hasn't it?

Recluses who are reputed to have large sums of cash secreted on the premises are being knocked off systematically by baddies, which is why banks were invented.

The Supreme Court and Congress are still fighting, and when they tire of fighting the chief executive will be fighting with one or the other, or both, which is what the Founding Fathers had in mind when they balanced the power of government three ways.

People with high-powered cars and low-power judgment are still bashing into one another and being picked up in baskets.

Public spenders are still running briskly ahead of private earners who are expected to support them in the style to which they have become accustomed.

People who stick up for their own opinions are still being looked at askance by people who take their opinions ready-made and do not like to have their intelligence challenged.

There is still a movement afoot to break up the New York Yankees and all other enterprises which succeeded by their own efficiency in embarrassing the second-raters.

The only thing I can honestly say is different is that pencils no longer have erasers on them; at least the new ones that I have been using do not have erasers. So, instead of concealing my bloopers, I now have to scratch out my errors and advertise my stupidity to the world.

But as I say, I am in a mellow mood when even my own stupidity doesn't strike me as anything out of the ordinary. I am no more stupid than I was before, which makes even that handicap bearable.

Your aunt chimed in, after I read that statement to her, that I am more no account than I used to be, especially when I get in a mellow mood. I agree wholeheartedly. I am getting more worthless all the time, which I judge to be normal for one of my years and disposition.

Regards to the family and to you. How worthless are you getting?

Cotton Corners- UNCLE GEORGE

Without Any Jeopardy to His Rank

Our thoughts about the Army Staff School's decision to flunk young Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. are mixed.

Sympathy for the underdog and the downtrodden is blended with admiration for military men of iron who insist on upholding high standards even at the expense of incurring ill will in the Dominican Republic where Gen. Trujillo Sr. undoubtedly has taken a parent's dim view of his son's failure.

A finely honed sense of propriety about the behavior of young generals living abroad finds itself cheek by jowl with a razor-edge appreciation of the temptation curvaceously proffered by the several ladies whose names have been linked with his in Hollywoodian high-jinks.

But one thing considered with another, the principal thing about Junior General's failure to make the grade in the Army Staff School, where he was sent to prepare himself to do credit to the name of Trujillo in the Dominican Republic, is a sense of relief.

If someone has to flunk out of school, it couldn't happen to a nicer victim than the boss's son. Gen. Trujillo Sr. is a generalissimo, which is the highest kind of general there is. He also is dictator of his country, which is even better than being president, a job occupied by his brother.

Thus, it is safe to say that young Gen. Trujillo, who started where most soldiers hope to finish, has failed to win a diploma without any jeopardy to his rank or payroll security. In a season when failure to win a diploma is a bleak tragedy, it is good to know that Trujillo Jr. can get along nicely without one.

One More Victory

Renovation of the Lincoln Park swimming pool now is assured and when ready for use it will fill a very real community need that has been apparent for some time.

City officials, especially the special City Council swimming pool committee and the Park Board, should be commended for finally getting the project off the ground after it had been bogged down for a couple of years.

Unfortunately, the democratic processes often are slow and in this case actual completion will come too late to be of maximum benefit this summer.

Present estimates are that the pool will be ready for use about the middle of August, and most pools close for the season Labor Day.

Nevertheless, the legislation was approved by City Council with all possible speed and Mayor Wendell L. Strong signed it without delay. So the timing on the project is unfortunate, but apparently it could not be helped.

At any rate the pool will be ready for a full season next year and will be one more major addition to Marion's list of civic accomplishments.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

If a Republican accepts a gift of a rug from a lifelong friend these days he can be assured the Democrats will try to put him in a doghouse with wall-to-wall carpeting. If an overcoat is involved they want to be sure he gets a "belt" in the back.

Effect of westerns on the American home is pretty terrible. Mild husbands who have never been near a horse or used a putty-blower are wearing sombreros and practicing the "draw" before mirrors. Wives are becoming excessively cute and go around muttering, "The milkman's late. I hope the Sioux didn't get him at the pass," "Paw's been threatened and it's time to call the marshal" and "Didn't I see you in Tombstone years ago?"

TEEN-AGERS ARE IN cowboy clothes phoning, "I'll see you at the crossroads bar for an ice cream soda." We asked the Missus last night what made her so nervous and she replied, "Thar's two strangers in town. I don't like the looks of 'em."

A tapestry inspired by a Picasso entitled "Girl on Ladder" has been put on the walls of U.N. To us it seems like a kindergarten sketch of a double-domed dame trying to throw somebody out at first-base from a homemade ladder. Somehow the lady's awkward position seems to symbolize U.N. in action. (We can't figure out how it got on the wall without a veto.)

THOSE WHO ALLEGE Sherman Adams once tried to influence the Securities Exchange Commission probably think of it as Sherman's March to the SEC.

Secretary Mitchell was in Switzerland when he got off that blast at the Kennedy-Ives labor bill. ("A youth who wrote mid snow and ice a message with the strange device, 'It's full of loopholes.' ")

America has an annual National Bake-off at which housewives can win vast sums for cookery and it has seen a Sew-Off with a $25,000 first prize for women who are better than fair at dressmaking, etc.

Mrs. Paul E. Bell of Lakewood, Ohio, took the grand prize with an "empire chemise dress." Put not only the gown but the money, "in the bag," so to speak.

You can't make the 14-year-old boy believe that life will ever bring a darker moment than having his mother publicly kiss him good-by as he leaves for camp.

A Kansas tornado is reported by an eyewitness to have looked like an elephant, with the spout for its trunk. But just to even up the political symbolism, it kicked like a mule.

So many movies are advertised as "The story they said couldn't be filmed," we're going to start demanding some documentation, such as the name and address of who said it.

"As he thinketh in his heart so is he." Proverbs 23:7. There is a German adage that man is what he eats. Chemically of course that is true enough, but man certainly is what he thinks. We can control our thoughts. Good and bad deeds always start as thoughts.

Miss Julia Brandenburg Is Wed to Merrill R. Hendel

The silver wedding anniversary of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Hendel of 104 Lusch Rd., was chosen by Miss Julia Ann Brandenburg and Merrill Richard Hendel as the date for their wedding.

It took place on Saturday, June 14, in the St. Mary Catholic Church in Richmond, Ind., with the Rev. William Blackwell reading the double ring ceremony. Two pedestal vases of white gladioli tied with blue ribbons and lighted tapers in two seven-branch candelabra decorated the altar. Nuptial music was by Manfred Blum, organist, and Robert Allen, vocalist.

The bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Robert Brandenburg of Richmond, Ind., wore a gown of white embroidered silk. Designed by the bride, it was fashioned with a wide V neckline and long sleeves tapering to points over the hands. Embroidered scallops trimmed the hemline of the skirt which was styled with an apron effect in front and extended into a chapel length train. Her fingertip length veil of silk illusion fell from a queen's crown of seed pearls and iridescent sequins. She wore pearl button earrings and carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, eucharis lilies and tiny sprigs of blue delphinium. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

MATRON OF HONOR for the bride was Mrs. James Thomas of Columbus who wore a Copenhagen blue street length sleeveless sheath dress of embossed taffeta fashioned with a Sabrina neckline and a cummerbund of matching material attached to two back panels. She wore a blue flutter brim picture hat trimmed by lilies of the valley and her colonial bouquet was of white daisies.

The bridesmaids, Miss Carole Harbin, Miss Valeta Pfeiffer and Miss Virginia Bloemke, wore white embossed taffeta dresses styled identical to the dress of the matron of honor. They had blue flutter brim hats and carried colonial bouquets of blue painted daisies. All attendants wore blue and white teardrop earrings, gifts of the bride.

Miss Ann Benham, cousin of the bride, as flower girl wore a full length dress of blue nylon organdy over taffeta featuring a white collar. The white nylon organdy scalloped apron effect overskirt was tied in a large back bow. She had a white flutter brim hat trimmed by lilies of the valley and carried a basket of white rose petals. Robert Brandenburg, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

Best man for the bridegroom was William Marquis of Columbus and ushers were John Hendel of Marion, brother of the bridegroom, William Brandenburg, brother of the bride, David Meyer of Mason, O., cousin of the bridegroom, and James Thomas of Columbus. Richard Brandenburg, brother of the bride, served as junior usher.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Brandenburg chose a Copenhagen blue sheath dress of linen and lace with white accessories. Her corsage was of stephanotis and delphinium. Mrs. Hendel, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a dusty rose lace dress over taffeta with white accessories and a corsage of pink tea roses and stephanotis. The bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. John Zeisler of Marion, wore a royal blue lace dress over iridescent taffeta with white accessories and her corsage was of yellow tea roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Merrill Richard Hendel

A BUFFET dinner for out-of-town guests and members of the wedding party was held at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. In the afternoon, a reception was held at the K. of C. Discovery Room. Assisting in serving at the reception were Mrs. Clyde Hunt, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Kenneth Stanley of Marion and Mrs. Ron Phenis. In charge of the guest book were Mrs. Thomas Hodges and Miss Regina Callahan. The bride's table, decorated with baskets of white gladioli with blue streamers, was centered by a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

After returning from a trip to Virginia Beach, Va., the couple will reside at 1385 Northwest Blvd., Columbus. For the trip, Mrs. Hendel wore an empire sheath Dior blue pure silk dress with a matching short sleeved box jacket. She had white accessories and the corsage was from her wedding bouquet.

Mrs. Hendel was graduated from Richmond high school in 1955 and attended Patricia Stevens Finishing School and Kent State University where she majored in physical therapy. She had been employed in the physical therapy department at Reid Memorial Hospital and is a member of the Sigma Phi Gamma sorority. Mr. Hendel, a graduate of Harding High School in 1952, attended Kent State University. He served two years with the Army in France and now is a senior at Ohio State University. He is employed in the sales supportive office of the F. and R. Lazarus Co. in Columbus.

The bridegroom's parents were host and hostess for the rehearsal dinner at Parker's Restaurant on Friday evening before the wedding.

Scientist Granted Asylum in U.S.

Polish Refugee Family Is Grateful for Freedom

BALTIMORE (AP) — "It gives some touch in the heart."

And those seven words summed up the eight-month first chapter in the American history of a Polish refugee family — Dr. Jerzy Leon Nowinski, a brilliant mathematical researcher, his wife, Maria, and daughter Krystyna.

Today, the humble, happy Nowinskis returned their borrowed furniture and packed their meager belongings.

Leave for Wisconsin

Sunday, they leave for Madison, Wis., where Dr. Nowinski will join the faculty of the University of Wisconsin as adjunct professor attached to the Mathematics Research Center.

It was last November that Dr. Nowinski, a 52-year-old, 140-pounder with a Charlie Chaplin mustache, came to the United States to lecture at Johns Hopkins University.

On Jan. 3, the State Department announced asylum had been granted Nowinski and his family. Ten days later, his wife and daughter, who had made their way to England in the meantime, joined him here.

They had carefully planned their escape from Communist-dominated Poland, leaving their Warsaw home with little more than the clothes on their backs. Dr. Nowinski, a professor at the University of Warsaw, had been one of Poland's top theoretical mathematicians — a specialist in thermoelasticity — dealing with the stress and strain on metals under extremes of temperature.

Second Chapter Opening

He and his family look forward eagerly to the second chapter of their American life with only the normal regrets at leaving kind neighbors and their first real friends.

"My wife says after a half year she feels at home, completely," Nowinski said.

"I no longer fear something that could happen at any time. I feel myself completely relaxed."

"We are going to apply for citizenship as soon as possible," he added.

Nowinski's first name, Jerzy, has now become George. And Krystyna has Americanized her name to Christina.

Many personal kindnesses, some 200 "kind and encouraging" letters from all parts of the country, blood donated by a neighbor when Mrs. Nowinski had a recent operation, and a fishing rod given by a friend as a parting gift — all of this — "It gives some touch in the heart."

Herbert Bayard Swope Dies

Rites for Former Editor To Be Held in New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Private funeral services for Herbert Bayard Swope, 76, once proclaimed "the best reporter in America," will be conducted Sunday.

The services, for the family and a few close friends, will be held at 2 p. m. at his Sands Point, N. Y., home on Long Island. Swope died at Doctors Hospital Friday.

Swope was the first newspaperman ever to win a Pulitzer Prize. During 20 years as sparkplug of the old New York morning newspaper, the World, he was a reporter, city editor and executive editor. He was the first chairman of the New York State Racing Commission, a founder of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, and a former director of The Associated Press.

Undergoes Surgery

After entering the hospital June 12, Swope underwent surgery Monday for an intestinal ailment. Postoperative pneumonia set in the next day. His family was with him when he died.

Born in St. Louis, he was the youngest son of a wealthy watch case manufacturer. A brother, Gerard, became president of the General Electric Co.

Swope began his newspaper career on the St. Louis Post-Dispatch at the age of 18. He said he was fired for spending too much time coaching a football team.

He got a job on the Chicago Tribune and then moved to the New York Herald.

In 1908, he joined the New York World. He won the Pulitzer Prize for foreign correspondence as a result of his war dispatches from Germany during the early part of World War I.

Named Assistant to Baruch

Returning to this country when it declared war on Germany, Swope was named assistant to Bernard M. Baruch, his lifelong friend, on the War Industries Board. After the armistice, Swope accompanied President Woodrow Wilson to the Paris peace conference and headed the official American press delegation.

The most glittering period of his glamorous life was the nine years as executive editor of the World. His policy on the World was to "pick out what appears to be the one best story of the day and then hammer the living hell out of it, subordinating all others."

Lord Northcliffe, British publisher, called Swope "the best reporter in America."

Swope resigned from the World in 1929 after a disagreement with its owners. The paper was merged with the New York Telegram in 1931.

Heads First Commission

After racetrack betting was legalized in New York in 1934, Gov. Herbert H. Lehman named Swope chairman of the first state racing commission, a post he held 11 years. He had always been an enthusiastic racing fan.

From 1942 to 1946, Swope acted as personal consultant to the secretary of war. He often acted as spokesman for Baruch when the latter was U. S. delegate to the United Nations Atomic Energy Commission.

Swope is survived by his wife, Margaret; his son, Herbert Jr., a motion picture producer; and a daughter, Mrs. Robert Brandt.

Summer Program Opens at Galion's Parks on Monday

GALION — Supervised playground activities at Galion's three parks will be launched Monday.

The eight-week program is under the direction of Carroll Kent, Galion High School coach. His assistants are Miss Suzanne Hocker, a physical education instructor in a Cleveland suburb last year, and Paul Hunt, a senior at Galion High. The directors plan to spend three half days at Heise, East Side and South parks each week.

Youngsters ranging in age from 7 to 12 are eligible to participate in the program. Registration is still open, the directors said.

This will be the first supervised recreation program in Galion for a number of years. It was organized after City Council passed legislation setting up a fund for the program, salaries for the supervisors and authorized Mayor Edward H. Jones to appoint a park advisory committee.

The schedule at the parks is as follows:

Heise, Monday and Thursday mornings and Tuesday afternoons; East Side, Wednesday and Friday mornings and Monday afternoons, and South, Tuesday morning and Thursday and Friday afternoons.

Pittsburgh's 1910 football team won all nine games played and held the opposition scoreless.

Summer's Advent Finds Nation's Key Businesses on Upbeat

Publishers' Poll Shows Some Gains

Survey on Outlook Discloses a Few Soft Spots Here and There

NEW YORK (AP) — Summer's advent found business on the upbeat in most key lines this week. But you could feel soft spots here and there.

Steel production hit its fastest pace since December. Freight carloadings touched a new 1958 high. One of the nation's biggest producers hiked the price of copper.

A poll by the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. found retailers betting on a good summer season. Radio Corp. of America reported a big increase in sales of color TV sets Texas authorities set a slightly higher limit for July on the state's permissable output of crude oil. The rate of business failures around the country continued to decline.

Face Annual Summer Lull

There were prospects, though, that industrial production would soon bog down in a summer lull.

The steel pickup lost some of its luster when Bethlehem Steel Corp. shut down four furnaces at its Lackawanna, N. Y., works. Steel customers have contributed to the upturn by buying to beat an expected price boost. Once the price rise deadline is past, many steel users will resume living off their inventories. They know they can get steel any time they want it.

Railroads were told this week to expect a sharp decline in freight traffic in the heavily industrialized Great Lakes region.

The Great Lakes Regional Shippers Advisory Board predicted that carloadings in the Great Lakes district in the next three months will trail last year's pace by about 29 per cent. Shipments of steel, ore and automobiles are expected to show the greatest drop.

Good News for Rail Industry

There was good news for the ailing railroad industry, too. The Senate voted to kill the three per cent excise tax on rail freight tariffs and the 10 per cent federal tax on passenger fares. For auto manufacturers, the news was not so good. The manufacturers' excise tax on autos stays.

Job prospects for college graduates — not too bright a couple of months ago — have gotten better. So says the Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern National Life Insurance Co.

As recently as April, the bureau states, job offers for college grads were running 50 to 75 per cent below a year ago.

Here's how the situation stacks up now: last year, nearly every engineering college and technical school polled by Northwestern had all available bachelor of science grads placed by June 1. This year a little over half of the science schools report 90 per cent of their available men placed by commencement time. Nearly all of the remainder forecast complete or nearly complete placements of their engineers by autumn.

Adams — or, if Gen. Ike can't bring himself to do that, Adams, touted as a shrewd politician, should act like one in his own case and resign."

An editorial in Life magazine, which supported Eisenhower in both his campaigns, said of Adams:

"However regrettable it may be in many ways, his resignation is the best way to insure the principles of morality in government continuance."

On the other side of the political fence, the strongly Democratic New York Post, anti-Eisenhower in both elections, struck a sorrowful note.

"The fact is," said the Post, "that Adams is out on a limb. Even though the President has expressed unshaken confidence in him, it is unlikely that Adams can get down without jumping from the White House to political anonymity. The melancholy truth is that the prestige of the President has suffered a most serious blow."

Post-Dispatch Hits Ike

The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, anti-Eisenhower in both campaigns, said of Adams:

"We think his usefulness to the President is ended, and that the President makes a serious mistake, after adopting such a high moral tone on governmental ethics, to condone his assistant's conduct."

The Washington Evening Star, which gave Eisenhower no campaign support, said:

"If Mr. Adams keeps his office a certain sanction will have been given to a double standard of ethics. And it is perfectly obvious that Mr. Adams will be a major political liability to the administration . . ."

One of the most strongly-worded of editorial comments was that of the Republican New York Herald-Tribune. The newspaper, pro-Eisenhower in both elections, said:

"No leader since Washington has had such universal respect and admiration (as Eisenhower) ...For five years, Sherman Adams has been the indispensable right arm of the President. He still is. The President wishes him to remain so. Accordingly, he should. The President and Mr. Adams can now get back to work."

Praises Adams

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, which supported Eisenhower both in 1952 and 1956, praised Adams extensively:

"He certainly should remain in government. Gov. Adams is a man of limitless energy and extraordinary ability. In these trying times such men are altogether too rare. A man of outstanding genius, such high moral standards and such boundless integrity should not be lost to the government because of one guileless indiscretion."

A number of newspapers took the attitude that Adams' continued presence in the government may have to be reconsidered in the light of coming political developments.

Expressing the editorial feelings of the Hearst newspapers, which supported Eisenhower in both elections, the New York Journal-American said:

"The issue has not been resolved by the White House announcement that Mr. Adams will continue in his job. Such an affirmation, admirable as it may be, does not answer the question. It will be answered by political realities which will have to be faced and weighed by the President and Mr. Adams, and by Mr. Adams in his conscience, in the days to come."

U.S. Pressing Russians for Release of Nine

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, apparently balking at further dealings with Communist East Germany, is pressing Russia to take immediate action toward freeing nine U.S. military men held by the German Reds.

The nine were grabbed by the East Germans when their helicopter went off its course and ran out of gas during bad weather two weeks ago today.

The State Department asked Moscow Friday night to have Soviet military authorities in East Germany act immediately to have the men released.

Russia, in what was regarded as a maneuver to force direct dealing between this country and East Germany, which the United States doesn't recognize, has argued it has no control over its German satellite.

Robert Murphy, deputy undersecretary of state, asked that steps be taken toward freeing the nine men under agreements made at the end of World War II by the allied powers occupying Germany for the handling of military personnel in each other's territory.

Wheat

quotas on individual farms and assesses penalties on excess sales. It is designed to limit sales to the production on 55 million acres, which is about 30 per cent less than the postwar peak.

But increasing yields per acre, reflecting better crop practices, have largely offset reductions in plantings. Furthermore, present law does not permit any further reduction in total acreage alloted under the program.

Influencing the referendum's outcome was the fact that the 1959 crop would be supported at an average of about $1.81 a bushel if quotas were approved and at about $1.20 if they were rejected.

This may well be the last referendum on wheat quotas as they now stand. The Eisenhower administration has recommended changes that would grant farmers more freedom to produce if they accepted somewhat lower price supports. The administration contends markets would take much more if prices were lower.

Critics disagree with the administration proposal but they, too, have been casting about for a more effective method of stabilizing supplies and prices. Congress may act before the time comes to vote on quotas on the 1960 crop.

Similar referenda will be held later this year on quotas on next year's crops of cotton, rice and peanuts. Quotas already have been approved for major types of tobacco.

INHALATOR CALLS

(Friday)

Man Is Sentenced On Assault Charge

William Burkhard, 20, formerly of 610 Polk St., was sentenced to six months in the Columbus Workhouse Friday when he appeared before Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith on a criminal assault charge.

Burkhard was returned here in March from the Mansfield Reformatory where he was serving a 1 to 20-year sentence on a charge of motorcycle theft. After his indictment on that charge by the grand jury last September, he was charged with criminally assaulting a 14-year-old local girl.

Judge Smith ruled the Workhouse sentence should be served upon completion of the reformatory sentence.

Burkhard, who was represented by George A. Piacentino, pleaded guilty to the criminal assault charge in March and was committed to the Lima State Hospital for a 30-day observation period.

The petitioners are seeking to obtain a guarantee than any blockage in the existing sanitary sewer resulting from construction of the proposed relief sewer will be corrected by the city.

A 29-year-old Crestline man was thrown off his motorcycle when he attempted to avoid a collision Friday night on Rt. 61, one mile south of Crestline, patrolmen said.

Robert Armstrong, 29, sustained lacerations of the eye and body bruises and abrasions. He was treated at Crestline Memorial Hospital and released, officers noted.

According to the report his cycle was forced off the highway at 8:45 p.m. by an oncoming car, attempting to pass another vehicle. No impact was made with the auto and its driver failed to stop at the scene, patrolmen said.

Auto Goes Into Ditch

An Ashley area man's car was only slightly damaged when it swerved off Rt. 42 to avoid a collision with a stopped car in front of it Friday at 2:50 p.m., state patrolmen of the Marion post reported today.

They said the damaged car was driven by Harold M. Baker, 54, of near Ashley. No contact was made with the other vehicle, according to the report. The mishap occurred one and one-half miles north of Ashley at 2:50 p.m.

Spokesmen Report Ohio Pickup Slow

Business Improves Over January But Is Still Below 1957 Rate

By The Associated Press

In Painesville, the Lake County National Bank, hoping to pump some new life into the business economy, cuts interest rate in half for a week on all loans for cars, washers and other big money items.

In Columbus, a retail merchant looks at his latest receipts and waits confidently for the summer to slip by.

In Cincinnati, a machine manufacturing executive also looks at his receipts and gloomily predicts that in his business, at least, it'll be months and months before things pick up.

They're all signs and symptoms of the current recession and just where business is now, and where it's heading, seems to depend on where the business is, and what it is.

At Lowest Level

If there's one thing businessmen and industrialists agree on, it's that the recession right now is at its lowest level.

When will the upswing start?

Again, it depends on where the business is and what it is.

In the Cleveland metropolitan area and the industrial northeast in general, businessmen are gloomy. New car sales are down more than 30 per cent from a year ago. Major household appliance sales are "suffering" as one merchant put it. Railroad carloadings failed to make their usual seasonal increase. Nearly all major department stores showed a drop in sales.

With unemployment rolls five times greater than they were a year ago, the industrial northeast is suffering more than any other area in the state. The prevailing sentiment is that recovery will be slow and considerably delayed. "The uneployment situation is too bad in this town," one Cleveland businessman commented.

Outlook Seems Brighter

In Columbus and central Ohio, the outlook seems brighter, the general attitude more confident.

The consensus is that business may not be quite as good as it was a year ago, but it's better than it was in January. Robert Lazarus, president of the F & R Lazarus Co., Columbus' largest department store, had this to say:

"Business is better now than earlier this year, it is running about even with last June. Earlier in the year we were behind a year ago, but it's about even now."

Albert Green, president of the Retail Merchants Assn. and managing director of Morehouse Fashion, Columbus department store, said retailers in the Columbus metropolitan area place retails sales about 3 per cent below last year's volume, but they say current sales are considerably better now than they were at the beginning of the year.

Some Items Down

Still, as in the northeast, some items are down. During the first quarter of 1958 both new and used car sales were below last year's figures despite intensive "hard sell" campaigns, and merchants report trouble in moving washers, gas and electric ranges and other major appliances. Television sales are holding up in central Ohio, and so are sports wear, ready-mades, and other low price articles.

In the Cincinnati area the general outlook is mixed. Department store sales, says one executive, are holding level with last year and have inched up slightly above the January level. And R. L. Gray, president of the Armco Steel Corp. said Armco Steel deliveries were "up noticeably" in May and June, and that "Armco expects to operate its steel plants at a better rate during the last quarter of the year than in the three preceding quarters."

and the company the right to lock out in support of their respective contentions. Meanwhile, presently existing conditions of employment will be maintained in effect.

An interim contract, designed to settle the controversy between union and company as to whether or not a collective bargaining agreement is in existence, was signed early Tuesday morning after 14 hours of negotiations.

At that time both parties agreed to submit the latest company proposal to the union for acceptance or rejection Friday night. The secret balloting took place at the UAW Hall on Leader St.

COLLAPSE AND RUN DRIVER

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — State police would like to talk to the driver of a tractor trailer who drove his vehicle over a single-lane bridge on state route 57. Witnesses said the bridge collapsed just as the driver reached the end — and he did not stop.

Khrushchev Tinkers With Farm Policy

MOSCOW (AP)—A new pricing system for Russian agriculture will produce more to eat without raising consumer prices, Premier Khrushchev promised today.

Khrushchev's latest plans for changing the farm system established under Stalin was published after the Soviet Communist Party Central Committee had outlined changes Friday.

But the premier-party boss' speech to the committee last Tuesday as published in morning newspapers still left some important points vague even though he talked the length of a small novel.

Khrushchev said beginning at an unspecified date food from collective farms will be sold to the state at a single price somewhere between the fixed low now paid for compulsory deliveries and the high on the open market for surpluses. The new plan abolishes compulsory deliveries while requring that "all quotas to the state must be maintained."

This won't mean, however, that consumers will have to pay any more, Khrushchev said.

One major objective of the change will be to encourage poor and inefficient collective farms to do better by giving them new incentives and cutting down the profits of efficient farms on rich land.

The farms that have had to scrape along just meeting their low-price compulsory deliveries will now get more money from raised prices. The rich farms that had sizable surpluses over the compulsory deliveries to sell at the higher open market price will get less from the lower single price.

Four Injured In Ohio Storm

High Winds, Rainfall Hit Area Near Lorain

ELYRIA, Ohio (AP)—A severe wind storm hit Lorain County Friday night. Four women were injured when a revival tent was blown down at nearby Amherst.

Police at Amherst said the tent of the Four Square Gospel Church was picked up by the wind and dropped 10 feet from its original site.

Mrs. Mabel Burr, 71, of Vermilion, and Mrs. Walter Wiesch, 44, of Elyria, were injured when poles fell on them in the tent. Mrs. Burr was treated at Amherst Hospital.

Two other women, not identified, suffered cuts, but declined medical treatment, police said.

Shingles from many homes in the eastern section of Elyria were tossed into the streets and a 50-foot section was ripped from the roof of the Perry Fay Co.

The wind was accompanied by heavy rainfall and police at Lorain said Broadway was flooded from curb to curb during the downpour. Railroad underpasses also were flooded, with several cars being stalled in the water.

The State Highway Patrol reported several small trees were blown down, many of them falling across roads in the county.

Issue of Parity Could Derail Nuclear Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Russian effort to force acceptance of Soviet bloc parity in major East-West negotiations threatened today to block the opening of a scientific conference on detection of nuclear explosions.

The agreed purpose of the talks, scheduled to open July 1 in Geneva, is to try to work out a system for policing any future agreement to halt testing of nuclear weapons.

State Department officials said they hoped the Soviet government would accept a lineup for the talks in which the Communist side would be composed of experts from Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia and the Western side, made up of experts from the United States, Britain, France and Canada.

Western Lineup Submitted

The proposed Western panel was presented to the Soviet foreign office Friday by the U.S. embassy in Moscow. The panel includes three American scientists, two from Britain and one each from France and Canada.

Designated to head the group was Dr. James B. Fisk, vice president of Bell Telephone Laboratories and a member of President Eisenhower's Science Advisory Committee.

Officials here said there was no doubt the Russians were trying to establish the principle of parity, which they have been pushing at the United Nations and elsewhere since last fall.

Insist on Equal Number

The Russians mean by this principle that in any important negotiation there should be as many Soviet bloc nations represented as there are Western nations.

Secretary of State Dulles has spoken out publicly against the parity idea on the ground that it would vastly complicate all sorts of negotiations, such as disarmament talks under the United Nations. Dulles also contends it would set up a false kind of equality between completely independent Western countries such as Britain and France and countries in the Soviet bloc such as Czechoslovakia.

In the current exchanges over setting up the Geneva conference, Russia had taken the position all along that its side at the conference table would be manned by scientists from the Soviet Union, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Automobile Damaged

Miss Rosalind Sult of near Prospect reported to sheriff's deputies Friday afternoon that someone broke a light switch on the dashboard of her car and also ripped out some wiring. She told deputies the car was damaged Wednesday night while it was parked on State Rt. 4 about three miles south of Marion.

SMALL DEMAND

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Officials of the Pennsylvania Farm Show notified Lock Haven restaurateur Jacob Kohlberger that they would have no place for his pies at the 1958 show because there just wasn't enough interest in his class. Kohlberger owns 34 buffalo.

Tigers Record Sixth Straight Win Over Yankees

Bunning Limits New York To Five Hits in 7-1 Victory

By The Associated Press

Bill Norman, the new boss of the Detroit Tigers, talks a bit like Casey Stengel, manages a bit like Casey Stengel and wins a bit like Casey Stengel. He also happens to be 5-0 against Casey Stengel.

"Willie Carc," as Norman calls himself (a nickname picked up long ago as an outfielder in the St. Louis Cardinals' farm system), rambles somewhat in conversation, but apparently the Tigers are hep to his jive.

A dozen days ago the Tigers were in last place and Norman was a "who he?" guy managing Charleston in the American Assn. Now the 47-year-old Norman has an 8-2 record in the majors and the Tigers are a half-game shy of second place.

53,168 Watch Game

Playing to a home crowd of 53,168, they knocked off the American League-leading New York Yankees again Friday night, winning 7-1 with a pair of big innings, some fine pitching from Jim Bunning and a crushing pinch hit. That's a perfect copy of the Stengel-Yankee pattern.

It also handed Stengel and the Yankees a six-game whipping from one club (the Tigers started the string under ex-Manager Jack Tighe) for the first time since 1953, when Cleveland swept two three-game series.

Kansas City retained a share of third with Detroit by beating second place Boston 5-3. That left only the Yankees over .500 in the AL, nine games ahead of the Red Sox. The Chicago White Sox gained fifth place, beating Baltimore 5-3. Cleveland and Washington were rained out.

Strikes Out 14

Bunning, whose shutout capped a four-game Tiger sweep at Yankee Stadium Sunday, struck out 14—tops in the majors this season—and allowed only five hits while out-dueling Bob Turley (10-3) again. The lean right-hander who won 20 last year squared his record at 5-5 with his third consecutive victory, all under Norman. The Yankee run came on Yogi Berra's 11th homer in the fourth inning—the first hit of the game.

The Tigers scored three in the sixth, capped by a two-run double by Al Kaline, who had doubled for their first hit in the fifth, extending his hit streak to 17 games. A triple by Ozzie Virgil and Gus Zernial's pinch single collected four more in the seventh off Virgil Trucks, making his first Yankee appearance after Sunday's trade with the A's.

Even ex-Tigers had a ball. Rookie Bob Shaw (2-2) won his first decision with the White Sox, blanking Baltimore on three hits in 3⅓ relief innings. Ray Boone, traded by Detroit Sunday with Shaw, doubled for two runs that gave the Sox the lead in a four-run sixth set off by Jim Landis' seventh home run. It was the eighth in a row for Chicago over the Orioles as Jack Harshman (5-6) lost his sixth straight.

Ralph Terry (5-5) won his third in a row for the A's with the help of Dick Tomanek, former Cleveland southpaw and yet another player involved in Sunday's shifts. Kansas City had only five hits, but clumped three with two walks and a passed ball in a four-run fifth that beat Jim "Riverboat" Smith (3-2). Boston's Jackie Jensen took the AL home run lead with his 18th, a two-run shot in the fourth.

Bunning Wins 2nd in Week Against Yanks

DETROIT (AP)—Jim Bunning, who has been slow in rounding into the form that won him 20 games last year, thrives on vast crowds and the New York Yankees.

The lanky Detroit Tiger right-hander stumped the American League leaders for the second time in six days Friday night 7-1. Fourteen batters were strikeout victims as 53,168 cheered his every pitch.

Only last Sunday before 54,817 in Yankee Stadium, Bunning stifled the Bronx Bombers 3-0.

"He and all those Tiger pitchers have the whammy on us," complained Casey Stengel.

His Yankees had just lost their sixth straight to Detroit. It was the first time a team had done that to the perennial champs since Cleveland in 1953.

Bunning fanned every Yankee who came to bat Friday night except Enos Slaughter and Bill Skowron. Mickey Mantle and Elston Howard swung at third strikes three times each. Mantle has been struck out by Bunning six times in two games.

"I used mostly a slider and a fast ball," Bunning said. "The last time I got Mantle on a curve."

Thirteen of the strikeouts were in the first seven innings.

"No, I didn't relax in the last two innings," Bunning explained. "You can't let up against the Yankees. It's just that it takes a lot of pitches to strike out batters."

Bunning posted a 20-8 record last year. His 182 strikeouts were second to Early Wynn's league-topping total.

Jugurtha Takes Second Hilliards Feature Win

For the second time in three nights, Jugurtha, trotter owned by Marion's Frank Bruno, won the featured event at Hilliards Raceway.

She followed a photo finish victory Wednesday night over the favored Pay Skipper with another first Friday night, winning a $2,500 event. Jugurtha was driven to both wins by Ray Rankin.

The seven-year-old bay mare was a familiar competitor on the Marion fairground oval two years ago.

Independents To Battle Fostoria Big Eight Nine

The Marion Independents tackle Fostoria Sunday at 6:30 p.m. at Lincoln Park in an Ohio Big Eight League test.

Sherm McKinniss, Bud Thorpe and Sonny Taylor will be available for pitching duties as Marion seeks its first league victory. Fostoria comes into Marion after a narrow squeak last Sunday against Tiffin. Tiffin's Gib Smith posted 12 and one-third hitless innings as he retired 37 straight hitters before falling 1-0 in 14 innings.

Smith handcuffed the Fostoria batters for 12 innings before walking a batter with one out in the 13th. In the 14th frame, two hits and an error cost him the 1-0 verdict.

Bolt Clings To Lead as Snead Quits

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Tommy Bolt is getting all the attention and Sam Snead made news by going home, but the golfer being talked about most by the golfers themselves in the $52,000 Flint Open is Gene Littler.

Although he has only one victory in the last two years, the little guy from Singing Hills, Calif., is rated as the real dark horse in the 72-hole Warwick Hills event at nearby Grand Blanc.

Littler, who won the San Diego Open as an amateur four years ago, is just two strokes off the pace in this one.

The second round Friday was washed out by a heavy downpour after about half the field had completed the 18th hole. Since PGA rules specify that all play must be wiped out under such circumstances, the field will play 18-hole rounds today and Sunday and windup with the final 18 Monday.

So the 69 posted by U. S. Open champ Tommy Bolt still stands for the lead, and Bill Casper Jr., of Apple Valley, Calif., trails by one stroke.

Littler is tied with four others for third place.

Snead, who shot a 78 Thursday in the opening round, retired to White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. He complained of chills and fever and said he thought he had a touch of ptomaine poisoning.

Bolt had a 73 Friday but the biggest victims of the washout were Masters champions Arnold Palmer, who set a course record of 67; Bert Weaver of Beaumont, Tex., who had a 68; and Paul Harney of Worchester, Mass., who fired a 69. Par is 36-36—72.

Witt Records First Win as Pirate Hurler

By The Associated Press

The long patient Pittsburgh Pirates have plucked another kid pitcher off the farm and now are just a game short of second place in that closely packed National League race.

The Bucs, winning seven of 10 in a jump from sixth place to third, have counted three of those victories from rookies Curt Raydon and George Witt, both sturdy right-handers who were allowed to develop slowly in the minors.

Witt, recalled only Sunday from Columbus of the International League, gained his first major league victory Friday night, giving up but six hits while striking out eight as the Bucs beat last-place Los Angeles 2-1.

Braves Boast Lead

The Milwaukee Braves took a three-game lead, largest in the NL this season, with a 7-3 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. Philadelphia knocked off second place San Francisco 5-4, and the Chicago Cubs skidded Cincinnati to third, 11-3 in a game held to eight innings by rain.

Witt, at 24 a seven-year veteran of the minors, gave up a leadoff walk, then retired 12 in a row before giving up the Dodger run on three singles in the fifth. The Pirates scored in the first off loser Sandy Koufax (3-3) on Ted Kluszewski's double and got the clincher in the third on singles by Bill Virdon and Bob Skinner and Dick Groat's fly ball.

Bob Rush Gets Win

Bob Rush won his fifth for the Braves, but needed relief help from Don McMahon although giving up only four hits. Eddie Mathews, Johnny Logan and Hank Aaron hit home runs for the Braves, with Aaron's a grand-slam that clinched it in the seventh off reliefer Billy Muffett. Sam Jones was the loser for a 4-7 record.

The Phils won it in the ninth when losing reliever Ruben Gomez (5-6) forced the tie-breaking

Draws Top Weight

CINCINNATI (AP) — Placer, a five-year-old gelding, drew top weight among a dozen 3-year-olds enrolled in the $4,000-added Verdant Handicap at River Downs today.

In Friday's featured Dahlman Purse, Mighty Wise, the 7-5 favorite, picked up his second straight victory here with a 1:13 run over a six furlong course.

SCORES WASHED OUT. Gary Player of Johannesburg, South Africa, shoots from the edge of the trap onto the ninth green in the second round of play Friday in the Flint Open. The shot went for naught when a downpour stopped the play and all scores were voided. The entire round will be replayed. (UPI Telephoto)

Ohio Net Star Awaits Action At Wimbledon

LONDON (AP) — American Davis Cupper Barry MacKay appears to be running into form just in time for the 72nd Wimbledon tennis championships opening Monday.

The 6 foot 4 inch gentle giant from Dayton, Ohio — only American seed for the men's Wimbledon title — made a disastrous second round exit from the Queen's Club Tournament singles. But in doubles play Friday, he hit his best form of the week.

MacKay and Australia's Mervyn Rose blasted through to the final with two fine victories. They defeated Australians Rod Laver and Bob Mark 6-4, 6-4 in the quarter-finals and Italians Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola 11-9, 6-2 in the semis.

"I've been putting in all the training I can at Wimbledon this week," MacKay said. "I know I've been playing badly, probably through lack of match practice.

"But I'll be all right next week."

MacKay and Rose meet Luis Ayala, Chile and Don Candy, Australia in the final today.

American interest in the rest of the tournament focuses on the women's singles and doubles. Margaret Varner of El Paso — conqueror of her close buddy Mrs. Margaret du Pont — meets South African champion Bernice Carr in today singles final.

The new team of New York's Althea Gibson and Brazilian discovery Maria Bueno meet Australians Mrs. Mary Hawton and Mrs. Thelma Long in the doubles finals.

Yesterday's Stars

Pitching — Jim Bunning, Tigers, hit the major league high for the season with 14 strikeouts, walked but two and gave up only five hits for 7-1 victory over the Yankees, his second in a row over New York.

Hitting — Al Dark, Cubs, had four hits in five at bats, two in a seven-run first inning, and drove in three runs in 11-3 victory over Redlegs.

Funeral Service Slated Monday for Westrope

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Funeral services for veteran jockey Jack Westrope, 40, will be held Monday at Forest Lawn's Church of Recessional in nearby Glendale.

Westrope was fatally injured Thursday when his mount, Well Away, bolted and threw him against the inner rail in the feature race at Hollywood Park.

An autopsy Friday disclosed he died from internal bleeding in the abdomen. There was scarcely a mark on his body, despite his fall and a number of fractures.

Cubs Pound Purkey

Robinson Belts 2, Redlegs Lose 11-3

CINCINNATI (AP)—If Frankie Robinson is coming out of his hitting fade at last, Manager Birdie Tebbetts couldn't be happier for his Cincinnati Redlegs.

The 22 - year - old Californian whacked two homers Friday night, accounting for all the Redleg runs in an 11-3 defeat at the hands of Chicago's Cubs.

But he is still hitting well under the .322 average he compiled last season when he won sophomore-of-the-year honors.

Robinson's teammates hit often Friday night, but Chicago made the most of its 12 hits, especially in the first inning.

Bob Purkey Chased

That's when Chicago jumped all over starter Bob Purkey and piled up seven runs before the Reds cold shut down the inning. Cincinnati could not recoup.

Two more Cub runs came in the fifth and sixth innings, but that was just frosting on the cake. Taylor Phillips scattered all 12 Redleg hits strategically and went all the way for his fifth victory this year.

The Reds couldn't score until the fifth inning when Pete Whisenant doubled down the right field line and Robinson followed with his first homer—over the left field fence.

Robinson turned the same trick in the seventh, belting his homer over the center field wall with nobody on. But that was the last Red scoring.

The game finally was ended at the end of the eighth inning after the second rain of the night halted play for nearly 30 minutes.

The Cubs' big inning got started when Tony Taylor and Alvin Dark collected singles and Lee Walls was hit by a pitch. That set the stage for Taylor to score after Walt Moryn's sacrifice fly.

The bases were jammed again when Dale Long got an intentional walk and Sam Taylor singled to account for two more markers.

Again the bases were filled with Cubs by a walk to Bobby Thomson. Another run came on a walk to Phillips and that ended the game for Purkey who has yet to show much stuff this season to the Cubs.

Schmidt Ends Inning

Tony Taylor singled again and so did Dark, accounting for three more runs before reliefer Williard Schmidt ended the inning.

The two Taylors collected walks in the fifth inning around Thomson's single, and that set the scene for Dark's run - producing single. Another run came when Walls hit into a forceout.

Again in the sixth, Moryn walked and, after Long singled, scored on Sam Taylor's safety. Long came in while a double play was in progress.

The loss knocked the Redlegs out of the National League's third place and also used up most of the pitchers.

Of the hurlers left, Harvey Haddix is slated to start today's game with Chicago, opposing Dick Drott.

Indians Idled By Rainstorm

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cal McLish, who scored one of his three victories this season over Washington, will be on the mound for the Cleveland Indians this afternoon. They will meet the Senators at Municipal Stadium.

McLish, a right - hander, was scheduled to pitch Friday night in what was to be the opener of a four-game series, but the game was postponed because of rain. It will be played as part of a twi-night doubleheader July 22.

Cookie Lavagetto of the Senators said he may start his ace, Pedro Ramos.

Davis of OSU Runs to Third Track Record

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP)—A pair of swift Australians shoot at the world record in the mile run tonight in the 70th annual National AAU track and field championships. Two international marks already have been bettered.

Herb Elliott and Merv Lincoln won their mile heats with ease Friday night to set up their duel over the clay track at the Bakersfield Stadium tonight. Elliott won in 4.01.4 and Lincoln in 4.07.9.

World records fell to homegrown athletes in the hammer throw and the 440-yard hurdles.

Boston's Harold Connolly hurled the 16-pound ball 225 feet 4 inches to surpass the record of 220-10 set by Russia's M. P. Krivonosov in 1956. Ohio State's speedy Glenn Davis ran the hurdles in 49.9 seconds to lay claim to his third world record.

The Buckeye runner holds the official world record for the 400-meter hurdles at 49.5 seconds. A week ago he sped 440 yards on the flat in 45.7 to clip a tenth of a second off that standard.

Davis, who had run the 440-yard hurdles just once before, said he also hadn't planned any record dash.

"I just ran," the Ohio State senior added, "but maybe my subconscious thought of a record."

Running second was Josh Culbreath of the Philadelphia Pioneer Club.

Patty Berg Leads Field In Women's Golf Action

ERIE, Pa. (AP) — Defending champion Patty Berg carried a one stroke lead today in the third round of the 72-hole Women's Western Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Berg, who seeks her seventh Western Open title, posted a one under par 72, Friday after firing a 75 in the opening round. That gave her a 36-hole total of 147, one stroke better than Beverly Hansen of Indio, Calif.

Lucas Sparks Rebel Mates To 93-72 Win Over North

TROY, Ohio (AP) — A talent-laden band of Rebels holds the title trophies today after a one-sided 93-72 victory over the Yankees Friday night in Ohio's first North-South high school all-star basketball game.

About 5,000 fans filled Hobart Arena to see Jerry Lucas, Middletown's three-time all-state star, put on a scintillating performance in his farewell to the scholastic hardwoods.

Tall and agile Jerry scored 33 points. His 14 field goals—scored in less than three periods of play—matched the total two-point output of the three top scorers for the North, and the next three leaders for the South.

Game Called Success

The Ohio High School Basketball Coaches Assn., which launched the game as a counterpart of the annual North-South football game, declared the contest, the crowd and the attendant clinic huge successes. The association decided to do it all over again next June 20, in the same arena.

With their scholastic chores behind them, the two 10-man all-star squads will soon scatter to far-flung college campuses. Ohio State and Ohio University picked up most of the jewels, each getting three.

The terrific trio which picked Ohio State are all members of the Associated Press Class AA first all-Ohio Team—Lucas, John Havlicek of Bridgeport, and Mel Nowell of Columbus East. Between them they scored 54 of the South's 93 points.

The other two Class AA All-Ohio selections, Jerry Hallabrin of Mansfield and Charley Jones of Canton McKinley, along with Ralph Snead of Ironton — a second team choice—selected Ohio University.

But much of the talent will perform outside the state.

Gordon Mickey of Chillicothe is going to Indiana, and Ed Bode of Bethel, the state's No. 1 Class A star, has chosen West Virginia. Tom Sizer of Middletown, who counted 13 points to tie Nowell for runnerup among the Southerners, is going to Cincinnati.

Coached by Walker

In addition to their greater height and speed, the Southerners were welded into a fine unit under the coaching of Paul Walker of Middletown. Seven of the 10 Rebels had been working together for several weeks, having split a two-game all-star series with Kentucky and defeated Indiana. The Northerners, under Coach John Broski of Cleveland East Tech, had been together only since last Sunday.

The Rebels, with Lucas scoring 10 points, broke away to a 27-16 first quarter lead. The second stringers played the second quarter, and the North pulled up to a 39-40 deficit at the half. A free throw by Cleveland St. Ignatius' Gary Roggenburk tied it just as the third session started, but that was the last gasp for the upstairs. Before the period was over the South had counted 26 points to the North's 5, and the Rebels went into the finale with a huge 66 to 44 edge.

Walker juggled his lineup in the last session and the North roared in for 28 points — but the South got 27 to win handily.

Lucas, who holds every state tournament scoring record, and a lifetime average of around 32 points, was the big difference. He controlled both boards, tapped in most of his two-pointers after a teammate had missed, and in the last half scored 17 of the 21 points as the South zoomed from a 51-43 edge to a 72-50 runaway.

The ovation he received when he left the game with 1:14 to play could be heard for miles up and down the Miami Valley.

Maple Leafs Take Top Position in IL

By The Associated Press

Toronto's Maple Leafs, last year's International League champs, have completed their long climb from the depths of the second division to the top of the pack.

The Leafs backed Jack Crimian's shutout pitching with 10 hits against Havana Friday night for a 2-0 victory that moved them into first place, a half game and .003 percentage points in front of runnerup Montreal.

The Royals lost an opportunity to cling to their precarious lead when they dropped a 6-2 decision at Miami.

In other games, Richmond defeated third-place Rochester 6 - 0 and Columbus edged Buffalo 7-6 in 12 innings.

Platform Collapses

KINGSPORT, Tenn. (AP)—The honored guests of the Penn-Dixie Cement Co. stood on a platform for a safety awards program Friday night.

Calking Saves Money, Keeps Out Moisture

Compound Will Stop Drafts, Thwart Dust And Irritating Insects

By The Associated Press

The conscientious home-owner never slights the calking of a crevice.

Properly applied, calking saves money in repair bills. It is a prime rule of home maintenance to calk before painting, after painting—and between paint jobs.

Calking keeps out moisture that may cause rotting, it stops drafts and it keeps out irritating dust and insects. Calking compound may be applied with a calking gun or from a collapsible metal tube that looks like a king-size tube of toothpaste.

Tube Easy To Handle

The tube, with its special nozzle and metal key, may be easier for the amateur to handle. The key slips over one end and is turned to roll up the tube, forcing the compound that comes in bulk in a steady ribbon.

Calking guns are better suited to larger jobs. One type uses a compound that comes in bulk quantities; another type uses a disposable cartridge. Both types force the compound out of the gun by a plunger attached to a rod actuated by a trigger mechanism.

The gun that uses bulk compound has its own barrel and nozzle and must be cleaned each time it is loaded. In using either gun or tube, squeeze the compound out slowly and evenly. Hold the gun or tube so that the bevel of the nozzle is parallel with the surface being calked. Move along steadily in the job.

Where To Check

Many places need calking:

Look for cracks in masonry, at the ends and lap joints of siding, around wood or metal window frames, storm sash, water faucets and other pipes passing through walls, flashing, concrete step risers, corner joints, and foundation joints.

Pay special attention to parts of the house where different materials meet, like wood and brick. Frequently neglected are joints where porch columns and flooring meet and where vertical trim joins the horizontal sill of a window. Fine cracks in stucco and cracks in siding also need to be checked.

Glazing Stops Draft

Loose window panes need calking to keep out drafts, dust and moisture. Calking window panes is known as glazing. Glazing putty comes in cans and is applied with a putty knife. It also comes in metal tubes.

The tubes may be easier to use. They have an opening that deposits the glazing putty in a neat, triangular ribbon, and they are air tight so that leftover putty will remain pliable until the next calking job.

Construction Gain Noted in Bucyrus

BUCYRUS — Construction activity here in May was the heaviest it's been since January of 1957, Mrs. Betty Lorton, service department clerk, reported today.

The 13 building permits issued for construction carried an estimated total valuation of $128,500. The previous high was $163,500. That January, however, one permit was for the new Bucyrus City Bank Building and had an estimated value of $150,000.

Last month's permits were issued for seven new residences totaling $122,600; four new garages, $3,900, and two home remodeling jobs, $2,000.

The first concrete effort to change the status of Hawaii from that of territory to a state was a bill introduced in Congress in 1937.

Loans Readily Obtained For Home Improvement

By JOHN O. B. WALLACE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Funds for home improvements, despite all the talk you might hear about a "tight money" market, are readily available through commercial banks and other financial institutions. We have the word of reliable banking sources for this statement.

Making loans is an important part of the business of any financial institution and, we're assured, they're just as eager to serve you as you are to obtain advice and financial help from them

—:—

SO, WE'RE TOLD, if you're thinking of installing a new heating system, putting in new plumbing, adding a room, or doing some papering, painting or insulating, there's no need to put it off just because you can't pay for all the work from your cash reserves.

First, get estimates from reliable contractors on your home improvement project. Then determine how much money you'll need to borrow and how much you can conveniently repay out of your monthly budget. This done, you're ready to talk to a bank or other lender.

Home improvement projects can be financed through personal loans obtained from banks, from credit unions and from small loan companies. In some states, however, laws limit the size of these loans and repayment periods often are shorter than for special home improvement loans.

—:—

ASIDE FROM direct loans, it also is possible to pay for home improvements on the installment plan by special arrangement with an individual contractor, dealer or supplier.

It is important, however, in considering such installment contracts to determine whether the carrying charges would exceed the interest you would pay for a regular home improvement loan.

There are four principal types of loans which may be available for home improvements through financial institutions. They are (1) cinventional bank installment loans. (2) government-insured Title One loans, (3) open-end mortgage advances, and (4) supplemental loans obtained through mortgage refinancing.

Fixing Doorbells

Tips on Home Repairs

By ANDREW C. LANG
Associated Press Staff Writer

DO . . . when a doorbell will not ring, start checking at the pushbutton, where the trouble almost always is.

DO . . . unscrew the button and see if the wires are connected properly to the terminal screws.

DO . . . if the connections are all right, place a screwdriver blade across the two terminals. If the bell rings, the pushbutton is at fault and needs replacing.

DO . . . when the "terminal test" fails to produce a ring, know that the trouble undoubtedly is with the power source, batteries or the transformer.

—:—

DON'T . . . in making any test of the transformer, "fool" with the primary terminals, those with wires leading to the fuse box.

DON'T . . . try to make any repairs to the pushbutton, although it is all right to sand the contact points lightly if they appear dirty.

DON'T . . . be afraid to work around the pushbutton without turning off the electricity, since the voltage is too low to be dangerous.

DON'T . . . forget that if all checks show neither the pushbutton nor the power source to be at fault, the wiring may be at fault, although this is the least likely cause of doorbell trouble.

Here's How

Husband Should Assist In Planning a Bathroom

By VIVIAN BROWN
Associated Press Staff Writer

When redecorating your bathroom, include your husband in the act, advises Rose Wagner who with her husband Sherle makes a career of coordinating closet, boudoir and bath interiors.

"Some women ignore the man of the house when decorating a bathroom, but his ideas usually can be as definite about that as anything else. Why not let him have a voice in the matter?" she asks. The tipoff she's found is when a man shops for his own decor ot their 57th street showroom in New York, he usually is more fastidious than a woman, following up the most minute detail of his decorating plan.

"ONE MAN wanted wood paneling in his bathroom, so we got it for him — waterproofed laminated plywood. Another man wanted a bathroom done in Mexican hues, the scheme devised from a ring he wears. Green and brown grained marble formed the nucleus of the color scheme."

Contrary to popular opinion, men do not object to pink bathrooms, she says. They may act like they tolerate the feminine shade, but secretly they like it. Too many women, she says, stick to clinical white bathrooms, underestimating their husbands love of color.

—:—

"WE WERE decorating a bathroom for one couple. The wife selected a very conservative pattern for the walls, and was overwhelmed when her husband rebelled, preferring a more flamboyant pattern in gay reds."

You never can tell she says, but a safe bet if you don't know your man's taste is black, gold and white. It's a color combination that appeals to any man usually.

Mrs. Wagner says she is happy to say that peach, Nile green and powder blue, popular bathroom colors when she started in business 15 years ago, "are now virtually extinct."

—:—

MONOGRAMS are on the wane too, she says, and it is no longer considered chic to use "HIS" or "HER" motif. The most popular motif now is the cherub. Nautical designs — fish, sea horses and seashells — appeal to sophisticated types, too. French designs such as Empire patterns have an irresistible elegance for people who have good taste.

Materials have been so waterproofed that anything goes in the bathroom. There are plastic-coated papers that look like leather, waterproof fabric shower curtains and carpeting.

Right-of-Way Matters Delay 2 Road Projects

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Department of Highways today announced temporary postponement of two road projects until after complete right-of-way arrangements have been made.

The department had planned to open bids Tuesday for improving 4½ miles of Ohio 619 south of Akron and that road's intersection with Ohio 93.

Scheduled for July 8 was opening of bids for a section of the six-lane freeway between Cincinnati and Dayton. This includes a grade separation with the Pennsylvania Railroad, and is in Butler and Hamilton counties.

Rites Set for Priest

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Solemn Pontifical High Mass of Requiem is planned Tuesday in Chillicothe for the Rev. Francis J. Krueskamp, 80, who died at St. Francis Hospital Friday after a long illness. Bishop Clarence Issenman will officiate at the mass for Father Krueskamp, who served at Chillicothe's St. Peter's Church for 34 years before retiring.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Donald Blow of Amelia and James Walsh Jr. of Euclid topped 18 contestants Friday in the state plumbing and pipe fitting apprentice championships. Sales tax collections in Marion County for the week ending June 7 totaled $25.403, a $350 increase over the corresponding period in 1957, the state treasurer's office reported today.

This county was one of 27 registering a gain in collections. But total collections since last July 1 stood at $1 102,247, lagging by $134,363 behind cumulative collections during the first 11 months of the last fiscal year.

Throughout the state, weekly collections amounted to $3.520,609, a drop of $747,603 from collections during the corresponding week last year. Cumulative collections in the state now stand at $206,701,918, or $10,062.284 lower than last year.

The weekly collections in counties bordering Marion County, with last year's weekly collections in parentheses were as follows:

Crawford, $16.635 ($17 153); Delaware, $8,091 ($9.714); Hardin, $6,058 ($8.950); Morrow, $3 236 ($4,542); Union, $6,198 ($8 167), and Wyandot, $7.400 ($7.563).

Circleville Fire Chief's Junk Yard Protested

CIRCLEVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A group of Circleville citizens claim the city's fire chief is maintaining a fire hazard.

The citizens have entered a formal complaint to City Council about Fire Chief Talmer Wise's junk yard. They label it an eyesore and a health menace, as well as a fire hazard.

Chief Wise replied he has operated the place for years, that it is as neat as a junk yard can be and that he has no intention of giving up the business.

City Attorney Robert Huffer advised citizens to take the matter to court.

Will Attend Convention

E. G. Siefert, general agent for the Ohio State Life Insurance Co., will attend a regional meeting of the company at Gratiot Inn, Port Huron, Mich., June 23 and 24.

In addition to Mr. Siefert, the following associates of his agency will attend: Robert R. Bush, Robert Clouse, Charles Dunn, Harold Hammond, Donald Kelley, Ronald Scharer and Harold Trout.

Galionites Design Vacation Trailer

'Traveling Home' Cuts Family's Expenses During Summer

GALION — Lewis Kemp, 40-year-old fireman for the New York Central Railroad near here, took a long look at prospects for a hot summer, the size of his family and his pocketbook.

He did some constructive thinking and planning, added some ingenuity and came up with an idea for vacation travel.

Mr. Kemp's idea was a design for a compact camp trailer, that rides on two wheels, and is not much more to haul on the back of his car than a two-wheel homemade utility trailer when it is folded. Yet it's adequate to take his family on a long vacation trip at small cost for lodging and food.

HE TOOK his idea to Eugene Tischer of Galion, and together they constructed the "traveling home" in Mr. Tischer's welding and lock shop

With this trailer Mr. Kemp has taken his wife and three children, Joyce, 16, Jane 15, and Larry, 12, on trips to Florida, the Ozarks, New England and Canada, a distance of some 14 000 miles in three years. One of the stops on this year's trip will be Washington, D. C.

"If I had to wait until I got the money, I couldn't give my family this education through travel," said Mr. Kemp He also recognizes the value of companionship with his family which this mode of travel provides.

MR. KEMP'S wife, who keeps the books for the family, said:

"On a 10-day trip through the Ozarks, it cost us only $2.70 to park the trailer for all of the nights out. Some places were free, and others cost only 50 cents a night. The most we ever paid was outside of New York City, where the price was $1.80 in a trailer camp — a small amount to pay for a night's lodging for our family of five."

She prizes the nature study possible by this method of travel.

"There was the time when we were in the Great Smokies, and I was frying pork chops when we looked up and saw the bears — a whole family of them, only a few feet away," she said. "The people in the trailer next to ours said that all we had to do was hit some pans together, and they would leave. Often we could hear in the night the clamor of pans as other campers frightened the bears away."

Mr. Tischer didn't lose any time when he saw the fun the Kemps were having, and now he has completed one of Mr. Kemp's designs for his own use.

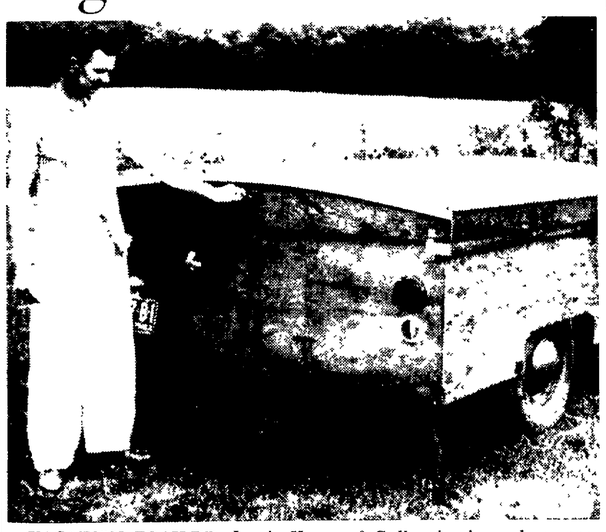
WHEN THE trailer goes down the road behind the Kemps' car, all it looks like is a farm wagon with side boards. It's eight feet long, six feet wide and four feet high when it is folded up. Mr. Kemp says it can be pulled behind almost any type of automobile or even a pick-up truck.

It takes about 10 minutes to get it unfolded, and set up for sleeping, and ready to cook out, said Mr. Kemp. Unfolded, it is six feet high from the floor, eight feet long, and 12 feet wide when nylon curtains are snapped on to go over the bed boards on each side. Five can sleep comfortably inside on air-mattresses.

Cabinets under the sleeping board are adequate for carrying the family's clothing, supplies, and a two-burner gasoline stove. The Kemps also carry two five-gallon tanks of drinking water on the front of the trailer. The trailer is equipped with wiring so that it may be connected either to outside power, or to the automobile's battery.



VACATION TRAILER. Lewis Kemp of Galion is shown here preparing to open up the camping trailer which he designed and constructed with the help of Eugene Tischer of Galion. Mr. Kemp, his wife and three children have hauled the trailer some 14,000 miles on vacation trips during the last three years. Unfolded, the trailer is 12 feet wide, eight feet long and six feet high from the floor. Five can sleep comfortably inside and the trailer has room for the family's clothing, supplies and a two-burner gasoline stove.

The Weeder's Guide

Frequent Care Needed To Ease Garden Tasks

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N. Y. — Gardening is fun, and it can also be hard work. But there are many ways of making the job easier.

A lawn, for example, which is cut often is much easier to mow than one which has been allowed to go untended. Not only does the mower have an easier time, but the lawn looks neater and the gardener is spared the chore of sweeping up grass clippings which may smother and kill the growth beneath it.

Short clippings, on the other hand, fall among the grass shoots, making a mulch which helps feed and protects the roots from the hot sun.

A HEDGE clipped often is much easier on the gardener's arms than one which has been permitted to develop thick, tough stems. A tree pruned properly when young, is unlikely to develop weak boughs or boughs which cross each other, and require heavy sawing equipment.

A garden which is weeded often is infinitely easier to tend than one which receives infrequent attention. If you pull a cultivating tool — a hoe or pronged tool — among the plants whenever little weed seeds have sprouted, they are a cinch to control. If you let them develop, it is a job requiring hoe, rake and a lot of hand-weeding.

Hand-weeding, of course, can never be completely eliminated from a garden. There are always places under the leaves of the desirable plant where it is safe only for a small tool or fingers to go. But the biggest part of the job can be done easily with a potato hook or diamond-point hoe if done frequently.

AT THE beginning of gardening, we really need few tools. Inevitably we begin to collect more as our interest grows. But there are few garden chores we cannot do if equipped with a lawn mower, grass shears, hedge clipper, pruning shears, pruning saw, spade, spading fork, iron rake, grass rake (flexible metal or bamboo), hoe and pronged cultivator.

A wheel-barrow is important, but I've found that a garden cart is easier for a woman to handle. And I use half-bushel baskets to take into the garden with me to store stones and debris for deposit later in the cart. A hose is an absolute essential. I use a soaker—a length of perforated hose—for all watering jobs, although many people use sprinklers for lawn and garden.

IN THE small tool department, there is a trowel, a hand cultivator and a dibble.

This is an era of chemical gardening, so a good sprayer is important. The kind you buy depends largely upon the use to which it will be put — and how much weight the gardener can carry around.

My own current favorite is a stirrup pump type, which can be put in a pail containing the spray solution, and operated with a trombone sort of slide.

Be very careful not to mix up weed-killers and bug-killers in the same containers, for the chances are you cannot remove every trace of weed-killer from the spray and you may, as a consequence, lose some of your best plant material.

Crowley Emphatically Denies Fatally Beating T. A. D. Jones

TOKYO (AP)—Joseph P. Crowley, who goes on trial July 3 on a charge of fatally beating T. A. D. Jones Jr., stated emphatically today:

"I absolutely did not have anything to do with it."

"This is the first time I ever got into trouble while I was sleeping," the former Yale football star said in an interview.

Crowley has consistently contended he was asleep when Jones suffered the injuries that caused his death May 8 in the Imperial Hotel suite they shared here.

"Mr. Jones was a good friend of mine and besides he was my brother-in-law," the burly ex-halfback said. "It was bad enough to have lost him but to be accused of having caused his death is absolutely unbearable."

Crowley is accused of hitting Jones with his fists while under the influence of alcohol. He was indicted June 9 on a charge of "inflicting bodily injuries resulting in death." It carries a possible sentence of 2 to 15 years.

Jones, 45, a New Haven, Conn., businessman, was the son of the late T. A. D. Jones, all-time great Yale quarterback, 1907 All American and 1920-27 Eli coach.

With Crowley during the interview was his older brother, Robert P. Crowley, 51, a real estate lawyer and president of the City Federal Savings and Loan Assn. of Milwaukee, and his Yale-educated Nisei lawyer, Arthur K. Mori.

The elder Crowley arrived Friday. "In my opinion," Robert Crowley said, "A serious miscarriage of justice has occurred against my brother. I sincerely hope the Tokyo District Court will quickly clear this matter up to the complete satisfaction of all concerned,"

The elder Crowley, a 1926-28 Marquette University (Milwaukee) football halfback, said: "I am spending my vacation with my brother . . . as I have done many summers in the past under better circumstances."

He said his stay in Japan was indefinite and declined further comment.

Joseph Crowley reiterated that he is innocent but said he was confident "the Japanese court will give me a fair trial."

"I like the Japanese people and I like Tokyo," he added, "but I want to go home."

806 Attending Buckeye Girls State Sessions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—As one group of attractive young girls prepared to leave, another crowd of teen-age misses descended on Columbus today.

Newest arrivals are 806 girl delegates to the 1958 Buckeye Girls' State. They came from 85 counties to carry out the function of government in a mythical 49th sae between now and June 29.

The Girls' Staters, most of whom will be high school seniors in the fall, arrived as some 2,000 young ladies of the Order of the Rainbow for Girls, a Masonic organization, ended their Ohio grand assembly.

Girls' State is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary of Ohio and is aimed at bringing about a better understanding of government.

The girl delegates will be welcomed tonight by Dr. Harold L. Yochum, president of Capital University, where the program is being held.

Boys Staters Hear Bricker

CAMP PERRY, Ohio (AP)—U S. Sen. John W. Bricker looked at a show of hands of Buckeye Boys' State delegates studying chemistry and physics Friday night, then he commented that it made him feel better about the nation's potential supply of scientific know-how for the future.

Bricker delivered a semi-technical talk on nuclear energy after advising the boys to "continue your interest in government and leadership no matter what your future occupation turns out to be."

State, county and court officers of Buckeye Boys' State turn in their equipment and records at noon today.

The last assembly for the 1,021 citizens of the American Legion school in self-government will be held Sunday morning when winners of various trophies and awards will be announced. Two boys will be selected to attend the Legion's Boys' Nation in Washington, D. C., next month.

Heads Auto Group

AKRON (AP)—New president of the Ohio State Automobile Assn. is Lynn R. Riddle of Lisbon. Others elected at Friday's convention include vice presidents Frank C. Thomas of Steubenville and Don L. Schrag of Canton.

Loan Agreement Negotiated

U.S. Agrees To Extend More Credit to Filipinos

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States agreed Friday to establish a new 75-million-dollar line of credit for the Philippines and provide 50 million dollars in development loan funds. The development loans are subject to congressional action.

The agreement was announced in a joint Philippines-U.S. statement issued by the White House at the conclusion of a three-day state visit by Philippine President Carlos P. Garcia.

The statement said Garcia and President Eisenhower reviewed economic development in the Philippines over the past years and examined the current economic problems which face that nation.

Garcia has been seeking a reported 350 million dollars in long-term credits.

The statement said:

"In view of the inability of the United States to anticipate accurate financial availabilities and relative requirements beyond the next 12 months, immediate emphasis was placed on meeting the initial requirements of the Philippine program.

"For these initial requirements the Export-Import Bank informed the Philippine government that it will establish a new line of credit of 75 million dollars for financing private and public development projects in the Philippines.

"The Philippine government was also informed that subject to congressional action on the additional appropriations being requested, the development loan fund would examine specific projects submitted to it to determine whether they would merit development loan fund financing in an amount not to exceed 50 million dollars."

The announcement was made just ahead of Garcia's start on a tour of American cities.

He and his official party planned to leave by air for Chicago, first stop on an 11-day tour. Vice President Nixon prepared to see him off.

Garcia and President Eisenhower had a farewell meeting at the Philippine embassy Thursday night.

Eight Checked For Radiation After Mishap

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — A team of specialists kept a close watch today on eight men who received radiation dosages in a nuclear accident Monday.

Five of the men suffered severe dosages which damaged their bone marrow. The other three received lesser amounts and have no apparent symptons of radiation effects.

Radiation damage to bone marrow can cause bleeding, infection and anemia.

The Atomic Energy Commission said that, although the men are not permitted visitors other than members of their families, none is in any discomfort. Their names were withheld.

The men were exposed when a worker handling enriched uranium accidentally set off a nuclear reaction. There was no explosion.

To keep up with the steadily increasing demand for more electricity we folks at Ohio Edison Company have had to put in a lot of new equipment lately.
